Bold Mental Health Plan Is Proposed

Kennedy's Message First Of Its Kind Ever Sent Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged today bold new programs he said would eventually free hundreds of thousands of mental patients from hospital beds and lighten the tragic toll of mental retardation.

The cost for the first year would be $31.35 million, but it might cost many millions more when the program accelerates.

His proposals were in a special message to Congress on mental health — the first such message sent to Capitol Hill by an American president.

Kennedy asked for an across-the-board legislative program for:

New community mental health centers, the centerpiece for bringing the mentally ill back to a useful life, and preventing new cases earlier.

More pre-natal care for mothers-to-be to help insure their infants will not be doomed to mental retardation.

More child health care to detect and treat threatened cases earlier.

More trained personnel and facilities for training and rehabilitation of the mentally ill and retarded.

More research centers to get at the causes and, hopefully, the cures.

Specifically, the President in tends to introduce four new bills, one of them not to be fully implemented until the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964.

That bill would encourage state or local governments or non-profit groups to establish networks of community mental health centers. It would provide part of the construction costs and up to 75 per cent of the staff costs for the first 15 months, decreasing thereafter for the rest of the four-year program. There is no price tag for this program.

It now costs the American taxpayer more than $2.4 billion a year for services to the mentally ill and retarded, the President said.

Within a decade or two, the President said, a broad, new mental health program can reduce by at least half the 600,000 hospitalized mental patients.

Hancock Pair Held To Court In Auto Theft

Two Hancock County young men were bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after admitting theft of a Wellsville man's auto from its parking place in East Liverpool early Monday morning.

Robert Keith Owens, 21, and Leroy Ray Walker, 19, both of New Cumberland R.D. 2, were taken into custody by the State Highway Patrol on Route 30 near Cannons Mills. A third young man allegedly found in the auto was not prosecuted in connection with the case.

A 19-year-old resident of Marcus Hook, Pa., he was returned to Naval authorities, who said he is AWOL from a ship docked in New York City.

Owens and Walker were charged with theft of an auto which John A. Prezzia, 1235 Main St., Wellsville, said was stolen between 12:25 and 3:45 a. m. yesterday from Broadway.

Both signed written waivers of the preliminary hearing and consented to be bound over to the Grand Jury.

The patrol said the three were taken into custody about 4 a. m. Monday by Patrolman R. D. Delagrange, who originally halted the car because it had no tail lights.

Owens was identified as the driver. When he could not produce an operator's license or other identification, the patrolman radioed the Lisbon barracks for a registration check.

About the same time, East Liverpool police broadcast a report on Prezzia's stolen car. Comparing notes, local police and the patrol found that the car halted at Cannons Mills had been stolen in East Liverpool.

The three youths were returned to East Liverpool for questioning and admitted the theft, officers said.

Prezzia signed charges this morning against Owens and Walker.

McNamara Says Cuban Missiles No Peril To U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says "there are undoubtedly missiles in Cuba" but not of the type that would menace the United States.

"Based on the information available to me," he said, "I believe that there are no surface missiles in Cuba threatening this country today."

McNamara put his views on the record in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press as a congressional hue and cry rose over Soviet military strength on the island 90 miles from the American coast.

One issue of the controversy is just how many Soviet troops are in Cuba. President Kennedy has estimated 17,000. Some legislators have expressed belief there are many more.

McNamara would not be drawn into that question. He said he would rather not comment on the presence of Soviet troops or reports they seem to be digging in to stay.

But he declared that one reason for the maze of persistent reports on ballistics missiles in Cuba may be confusion over the various kinds of missiles that are there.

"The reports perhaps confuse ground-to-ground, intermediate-range ballistics missiles (a type the United States considers offensive) on the one hand with the other types of missiles which undoubtedly are stocked in Cuba," he said.

Of this latter category, McNamara ticked off five kinds:

"1. Air defense missiles.

"2. Air-to-air missiles used by fighters to attack other fighters.

"3. Surface-to-sea missiles used for coastal defense purposes.

"4. Missiles for coastal defense purposes fired from patrol-type boats.

"5. Ground-to-ground missiles for short range use against troops in the field."

Said McNamara: "It is entirely probable that missiles of these classes exist in Cuba, and it seems probable that the reports . . . are based on that probability."

The missile issue was brought up again Monday by Rep. Donald C. Bruce, R-Ind.

He told the House he has information from friendly diplomats indicating that 40 or more Soviet intermediate-range missiles—capable of striking American cities—are still in Cuba. These, he said, are in addition to the 42 the Soviet said it put in Cuba and removed after the threatening days of the crisis.

The Defense Department swiftly disputed Bruce's contention, declaring: "No friendly government has so informed the United States. There remains no credible evidence to support his statement."

In reply, Bruce suggested "they talk to the State Department. They better get their heads together."

House Slates Final Vote On Redistricting

Hancock Virtually Assured One More Delegate Under Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The legislative reapportionment bill came up for House passage today in the form for which small counties have fought doggedly, but the House battle really ended yesterday for all practical purposes.

Again showing surprising strength and unity, a bloc led by rural-county delegates beat all attempts yesterday to scrap the long followed system of giving every county at least one delegate in House apportionment.

The key vote was the 53-45 count which shelved a delegate-district amendment by Brotherton.

The bill was expected to pass by a comfortable margin today, picking up votes from counties which stand to gain representation with or without delegate districts.

But the bill faces highly uncertain treatment when it goes to the Senate. House - originated provisions for redistricting the Senate, increasing districts from 16 to 23 and members from 32 to 46, are expected to get a cool Senate reception. No reapportionment legislation has been introduced in the Senate.

The bill would raise total House

Naval Patrol Planes Watch Cuban Routes

Navy Feels Sure No Ships Have Slipped In Since Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authorities said today every ship route into Cuba is watched by patrol planes and the Navy feels sure no vessels have slipped into Cuban ports undetected since the blockade.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., implied last week that two Soviet vessels which arrived in Cuba recently may have eluded surveillance. One of them unloaded arms, he said.

Keating said these ships followed a "maximum security route" which he said passed through areas "where the United States is least able to maintain adequate surveillance."

Usually reliable Navy sources, preferring to remain anonymous, said Keating probably is referring to a ship route entering the Caribbean between Venezuela and Puerto Rico.

These sources did not dispute that ships steaming this route might sometimes pass beyond the area covered by U.S. patrol planes.

But they said such vessels would be sighted—no matter how roundabout their route into the Caribbean—when approaching the few Cuban deep water ports.

Boiling Controversy

Ohio Senator Offers Plan On Equal Representation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican chairman of the Ohio Senate Judiciary Committee has stepped squarely into the boiling national controversy over whether state legislatures give equal representation to city folk.

"My intention," says Cincinnati Republican Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, "simply is to make Senate representation more nearly represent population."

This is a switch from general GOP policy which, feeling legislative apportionment in the several states aids Republican candidates, seems generally willing to let things stand as they are.

Hoffman's proposed constitutional amendment, which would wipe out the frozen-in state senatorial districts as set up by the Ohio Constitution now, seeks to let the State Apportioning Board set up the new districts.

The board is made up of the governor, the auditor and the secretary of state. All now are Republicans and the GOP will hold the posts for the next four years. The proposed amendment, if approved by three - fifths of the membership of each House and adopted by a majority vote of the Ohio electorate, would be effective early next year.

It would have no effect on the method of selecting House members, now the subject of two federal court suits. Those suits attack the so-called Hanna Amendment which guarantees each of Ohio's 88 counties at least one member of the House, regardless of population.

Meanwhile, Senate Democrats got a little hot over the new Republican system of shoving the governor's appointments of key of-

Votes Build Up Against Diefenbaker

Premier May Oust Parliament, Call For New Elections

OTTAWA (AP)—A tide of votes built up today against Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's government in Canada's nuclear warhead crisis. At least one no-confidence motion appeared to have a good chance to topple the badly split Conservative party from power.

There was a possibility that Diefenbaker, to head off defeat in the House of Commons, would dissolve Parliament on his own initiative and call new elections.

Defeat of the government on a vote of no-confidence would mean dissolution of Parliament shortly after, with a new election about 60 days later.

There was wide agreement among Commons members that the government could not survive a vote.

The crisis, brought to a head last week by a public U.S. State Department demand that Canada accept nuclear warheads, moved toward a climax Monday with the resignation of Defense Minister Douglas Harkness.

Harkness told a packed House of Commons that Canada should have obtained the U.S. warheads long ago.

In the tense debate that followed Harkness' statement, two of Canada's three opposition parties —the Liberals and the Social Credit party—presented motions of no-confidence.

An informal poll indicated that the motion of the Social Credit party could gather enough support to bring down the government when the showdown voting comes tonight. The Social Credit motion was presented as an amendment to the Liberal motion and was to be voted on first.

With two vacancies in the 265-member House of Commons, 132 votes are needed to unseat the government if all members vote.

The Social Credit party has 30 seats and appeared to have a good chance of getting the 99 Liberal votes. An informal poll of the third opposition party, the New Democrats with 19 seats, indicated they would join the antigovernment ranks.

The Conservatives, with 115 seats, have been exercising minority rule since the elections last June but have managed to stay in power with Social Credit support.

On the nuclear issue, Diefenbaker has maintained that the U.S.-British Polaris agreement at Nassau has cast doubt on the wisdom of a Canadian nuclear role.

Technical Problems Delay Cooper's Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The planned orbital flight of astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. has been postponed from April 2 until later that month because of undisclosed technical problems, reliable sources report.

No new launching date was set immediately.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment on the report. A spokesman said that the space agency has announced only that the flight will be in April without pinpointing a date.

Cooper, 35, an Air Force major, is ticketed for a flight of from 18 orbits lasting about 26 hours to 22 orbits requiring 34 hours in space.

ICE BREAKS UP IN THE OHIO. Ice in the Ohio River, frozen from shore to shore for the past week, began moving downstream at Cincinnati Monday, carrying boat harbors and small craft with it. This dock was shoved partially onto the bank. The U.S. Corps of Engineers reported a large jam of ice at the sharp river bend a few miles upriver from Dayton, Ky. When that jam breaks more trouble is expected. Engineers said the river was free of ice for about 96 miles below Pittsburgh. (UPI Telephoto)

Man, Woman Of Wellsville Hurt In Crash

Car Of Pair Upsets In Passing Mishap On Super Road

A Wellsville man and woman, injured late Monday afternoon in a two - car crash on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Super-road, were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Norman E. Brown, 60, of 616 10th St., the driver, and Miss Shirley Andrews, 32, of 2102 Clark Ave., were injured when their car collided with another and overturned about a mile south of the city limits at 5:25 p. m.

Both are employes of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. and were returning home from work.

Brown suffered head and back injuries, and Miss Andrews received lacerations of the knees and bruises and abrasions of the chest.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Brown was passing another vehicle when his 1955 sedan was struck by another southbound auto in the passing lane, operated by Frank C. Thorne, 21, of near Highlandtown.

Thorne, an employe of the Sterling China Co. of Wellsville, was returning from East Liverpool.

Witnesses said the impact caused Brown's car to overturn, and he was thrown out of the auto, which was heavily damaged.

The auto of Thorne — who was shaken by the crash — was also heavily damaged in the front, officers said.

Judge Delays Ruling On Negro Student Bid

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A federal judge has delayed a ruling on Dewey Greene Jr.'s application to the University of Mississippi until the 22-year-old Negro exhausts all administrative remedies.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize told Greene Monday to appeal his rejection to the university's committee on admissions.

Master Plan Cost Figures Draw Attack

A motion asking the finance committee to study a City Planning Commission recommendation for a $10,000 appropriation to pay for preparation of a master plan won approval by Council Monday night after a debate in which Councilman Frank Duffy questioned the cost.

Following a round of debate, the motion was approved by voice vote. Duffy did not dissent, although he had cautioned the city should "move slow" and questioned the size of the anticipated outlay.

The question came up when Clerk Lawrence Zollinger read a letter signed by Don Eckert, Planning Commission chairman, pointing out that the commission voted Jan. 28 to request that Council appropriate $10,000 to finance a master plan contract.

The Planning Commission's action followed a public meeting arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in which the need for a master plan was aired exhaustively.

Merrill Hall's Entry Livens GOP Primary

5 More Local Men Also File To Seek Posts Of Council

Merrill Hall, High School athletic director and former basketball coach, filed late Monday afternoon with the County Election Board to seek the Republican nomination for mayor in the May 7 primaries.

Hall's entry breathed new life into the GOP's mayoralty race, widening the field to three.

Filing earlier were Frank F. Fluno Jr. of Edgewood Ave., operator of a tax service and insurance agency, and William T. Kind of Walnut St., coal company proprietor and former councilman.

Meanwhile, five more entered for party nominations for ward Council seats. They are:

Beaver Incumbents Seek Re-Election As A 'Team'

Incumbent Democratic Beaver County officials announced today they will seek re-election as a team in the May 21 primary.

At the same time, the group said it will not seek a formal endorsement from the Beaver County Democratic Committee.

The incumbent group, led by County Commissioners James E. Ross of Beaver and Eli G. Corak of Midland, also includes: Comptroller James F. Tress of Chippewa Township; Sheriff John W. Hineman of Brighton Township; prothonotary Anthony J. Kubik of Aliquippa; Clerk of Courts Kathleen W. Evans of Rochester; Register of Wills John L. Neely of Rochester, and Treasurer Russel Milnes of Aliquippa.

Milnes will seek the nomination for recorder of deeds, since under Pennsylvania law he may not succeed himself as treasurer.

Corak, chairman of the county Democratic Committee, said: "The incumbents will not ask the county committee for an endorsement and in this way the primary will be an open one.

"We are confident because of our past and present record that we will be victorious not only in May but also in November.

"We will base our campaign on the sound fiscal administration we have developed and on the very progressive record which we are continuing on an economical basis."

The incumbents also announced that two other prominent Democrats will align with them to fill out a slate. They are Floree J. Aquino, Ambridge councilman who is also chairman of Region 3 of the Air Pollution Control Association, and Atty. Robert J. Masters of Midland, borough sol-

5-Cent Hike Accepted In 4-Year Pact

Settlement Comes After Negotiations O.K.'d By Council

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. agreed today to a compromise proposed by the city and accepted a new rate for its East Liverpool customers that averages out to 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, a reduction of nearly 13 per cent from the boost the company sought in an application filed late in 1962 with the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus.

The utility's request was whittled down in a marathon bargaining session here Monday afternoon and night between the utility's top executives and two spokesmen for the city — Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and William Wasik, Akron expert retained as a consultant.

A difference of just one cent per 1,000 cubic feet separated the two sides when negotiations ended about 9 last night.

THE CITY'S representatives proposed an average increase of 4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in a four-year contract, which they said meant a hike of 4½ per cent from current schedules.

The utility was holding out for a 5-cent raise, amounting to a 5.6 per cent hike, and a two - year contract.

After discussing the proposal for nearly two hours with Council, Cooper was empowered to notify the company the city would accept a 5-cent raise in a four-year contract.

But the vote was not unanimous. Councilmen Kenneth C. Berg, Edward Massey, S. James Welch and George E. Willshaw said they were willing to settle for the 5-cent increase rather than allow the case to go before the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus for costly litigation and probably a higher increase.

COUNCILMAN Frank Duffy declined to vote when the proposal was put to Council in a caucus session. Councilman Floyd Murray also sidestepped the poll and said he was "undecided." Coun-

Crucible Shows Big Increase In Income

The Crucible Steel Co. said in a summary of income today its net income in 1962 was $6,088,000, against $1,680,000 for 1961, based on sales of $239,649,000 compared to $104,951,000 in the previous year.

Depreciation was listed at $10,830,000 in 1962 and $8,510,000 for 1961, and federal income tax last year was $5,945,000 against $1,460,000 the previous year.

The next income was equivalent to $1.45 per common share—after preferred stock dividend requirements — in 1962, against 30 cents in 1961, with 3,831,997 shares outstanding both years.

Additional depreciation of $850,000 was available in 1962 under recent changes in federal tax law and regulations. The application of the new guidelines provided $444,000 additional depreciation and the 7 percent investment credit amounted to $406,000. The investment credit does not affect net income since it is applied against the federal income tax, the company said.

City Gains Smaller Hike In Long Gas Rate Fight

ICE BREAKS UP IN THE OHIO. Ice in the Ohio River, frozen from shore to shore for the past week, began moving downstream at Cincinnati Monday, carrying boat harbors and small craft with it. This dock was shoved partially onto the bank. The U.S. Corps of Engineers reported a large jam of ice at the sharp river bend a few miles upriver from Dayton, Ky. When that jam breaks more trouble is expected. Engineers said the river was free of ice for about 96 miles below Pittsburgh. (UPI Telephoto)

5-Cent Hike Accepted In 4-Year Pact

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. agreed today to a compromise proposed by the city and accepted a new rate for its East Liverpool customers that averages out to 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, a reduction of nearly 13 per cent from the boost the company sought in an application filed late in 1962 with the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus.

The utility's request was whittled down in a marathon bargaining session here Monday afternoon and night between the utility's top executives and two spokesmen for the city — Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and William Wasik, Akron expert retained as a consultant.

A difference of just one cent per 1,000 cubic feet separated the two sides when negotiations ended about 9 last night.

THE CITY'S representatives proposed an average increase of 4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in a four-year contract, which they said meant a hike of 4½ per cent from current schedules.

The utility was holding out for a 5-cent raise, amounting to a 5.6 per cent hike, and a two - year contract.

After discussing the proposal for nearly two hours with Council, Cooper was empowered to notify the company the city would accept a 5-cent raise in a four-year contract.

But the vote was not unanimous. Councilmen Kenneth C. Berg, Edward Massey, S. James Welch and George E. Willshaw said they were willing to settle for the 5-cent increase rather than allow the case to go before the Public Utilities Commission at Columbus for costly litigation and probably a higher increase.

COUNCILMAN Frank Duffy declined to vote when the proposal was put to Council in a caucus session. Councilman Floyd Murray also sidestepped the poll and said he was "undecided." Coun-

Man, Woman Of Wellsville Hurt In Crash

A Wellsville man and woman, injured late Monday afternoon in a two - car crash on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Super-road, were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Norman E. Brown, 60, of 616 10th St., the driver, and Miss Shirley Andrews, 32, of 2102 Clark Ave., were injured when their car collided with another and overturned about a mile south of the city limits at 5:25 p. m.

Both are employes of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. and were returning home from work.

Brown suffered head and back injuries, and Miss Andrews received lacerations of the knees and bruises and abrasions of the chest.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said Brown was passing another vehicle when his 1955 sedan was struck by another southbound auto in the passing lane, operated by Frank C. Thorne, 21, of near Highlandtown.

Thorne, an employe of the Sterling China Co. of Wellsville, was returning from East Liverpool.

Witnesses said the impact caused Brown's car to overturn, and he was thrown out of the auto, which was heavily damaged.

The auto of Thorne — who was shaken by the crash — was also heavily damaged in the front, officers said.

Judge Delays Ruling On Negro Student Bid

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A federal judge has delayed a ruling on Dewey Greene Jr.'s application to the University of Mississippi until the 22-year-old Negro exhausts all administrative remedies.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize told Greene Monday to appeal his rejection to the university's committee on admissions.

Master Plan Cost Figures Draw Attack

A motion asking the finance committee to study a City Planning Commission recommendation for a $10,000 appropriation to pay for preparation of a master plan won approval by Council Monday night after a debate in which Councilman Frank Duffy questioned the cost.

Following a round of debate, the motion was approved by voice vote. Duffy did not dissent, although he had cautioned the city should "move slow" and questioned the size of the anticipated outlay.

The question came up when Clerk Lawrence Zollinger read a letter signed by Don Eckert, Planning Commission chairman, pointing out that the commission voted Jan. 28 to request that Council appropriate $10,000 to finance a master plan contract.

The Planning Commission's action followed a public meeting arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in which the need for a master plan was aired exhaustively.

Beaver Incumbents Seek Re-Election As A 'Team'

Incumbent Democratic Beaver County officials announced today they will seek re-election as a team in the May 21 primary.

At the same time, the group said it will not seek a formal endorsement from the Beaver County Democratic Committee.

The incumbent group, led by County Commissioners James E. Ross of Beaver and Eli G. Corak of Midland, also includes: Comptroller James F. Tress of Chippewa Township; Sheriff John W. Hineman of Brighton Township; prothonotary Anthony J. Kubik of Aliquippa; Clerk of Courts Kathleen W. Evans of Rochester; Register of Wills John L. Neely of Rochester, and Treasurer Russel Milnes of Aliquippa.

Milnes will seek the nomination for recorder of deeds, since under Pennsylvania law he may not succeed himself as treasurer.

Corak, chairman of the county Democratic Committee, said: "The incumbents will not ask the county committee for an endorsement and in this way the primary will be an open one.

"We are confident because of our past and present record that we will be victorious not only in May but also in November.

"We will base our campaign on the sound fiscal administration we have developed and on the very progressive record which we are continuing on an economical basis."

The incumbents also announced that two other prominent Democrats will align with them to fill out a slate. They are Floree J. Aquino, Ambridge councilman who is also chairman of Region 3 of the Air Pollution Control Association, and Atty. Robert J. Masters of Midland, borough sol-

Crucible Shows Big Increase In Income

The Crucible Steel Co. said in a summary of income today its net income in 1962 was $6,088,000, against $1,680,000 for 1961, based on sales of $239,649,000 compared to $104,951,000 in the previous year.

Depreciation was listed at $10,830,000 in 1962 and $8,510,000 for 1961, and federal income tax last year was $5,945,000 against $1,460,000 the previous year.

The next income was equivalent to $1.45 per common share—after preferred stock dividend requirements — in 1962, against 30 cents in 1961, with 3,831,997 shares outstanding both years.

Additional depreciation of $850,000 was available in 1962 under recent changes in federal tax law and regulations. The application of the new guidelines provided $444,000 additional depreciation and the 7 percent investment credit amounted to $406,000. The investment credit does not affect net income since it is applied against the federal income tax, the company said.

City Gas Rate Plan Cleared

cilman Robert W. Sample was absent.

But the four favorable votes are enough to assure approval of legislation granting the raise.

In a case that has been pending before the PUCO since Nov. 30, Ohio Valley seeks raises that average out to 18 per cent.

The utility filed the application with the PUCO after months of negotiations with Council. The case dates back to June 1961, when the company first sought higher rates here.

In August, the company proposed a rate of 30 cents per 1,000 for the first 1,300 cubic feet; 78¼ cents per 1,000 for the next 298,700 cubic feet and 70 cents per 1,000 for all gas used beyond 300,000 cubic feet, he pointed out. It specified a minimum monthly charge of $2.65 — the same as at present.

The company's revised offer will reduce the second step in the August proposal from 78¼ cents to 77 cents, Wasik said. The city's 4-cent offer also was aimed only at the second step in the rate structure, cutting it from 78¼ to 76.

WASIK AND Cooper started their negotiations at 2 p. m. yesterday with four Ohio Valley executives — Walter Betsch, president, and Lee Briscoe, rate analyst, both of Columbus, Bruce Cox of Steubenville, special representative, and Harold Sneddon, local manager.

Acting on Council's instruction, Cooper reached Betsch by telephone this morning in Steubenville, where the utility president had gone after the negotiations ended last night.

Cooper said Betsch agreed to toss aside the company's argument for a two-year contract and grant the city a four-year contract with the rate averaging a boost of 5 cents per 1,000.

Betsch also agreed that the present $2.65 monthly minimum charge will be retained, although he previously had held out for a $3 minimum for the first 1,000 cubic feet, Cooper said.

UNDER THE new rate of 30 cents per 100 for the first 1,300 cubic feet, consumers will be able to use almost 900 cubic feet before topping the minimum charge, Cooper pointed out.

The solicitor said the next step to bind the agreement will be enactment by Council of legislation stipulating the new rates. He said the legislation can be prepared in time for the next regular session Feb. 18. It possibly could be drafted for an earlier special session, he added.

Before meeting with the utility, the solicitor and the rate consultant conferred for several hours to put the finishing touches on their case.

The company's application before the PUCO asked these new rates: 36 cents per 100 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; 11.4 cents per 100 for the next 9,000 cubic feet; 7.8 cents per 100 for the next 290,000 cubic feet, and 7 cents per 100 for any additional. It also asked a minimum monthly charge of $3.50.

Cooper and Wasik ended their negotiations with the gas company about 9, just as Council wound up its regular meeting. They then conferred with Council until nearly 11, discussing the negotiations.

"WE HAVE arrived at a point beyond which Mr. Cooper and I couldn't go without Council action," Wasik reported. Then he explained the company's offer and the city's counter-proposal.

The company's offer averaged out to 5 cents more per 1,000 cubic feet and the city's proposal, also based on an average, amounts to a 4-cent hike per 1,000, he said.

Then Wasik explained the utility's August proposal to Council and the propositions that were negotiated here yesterday. He said the difference of one cent would amount to a total of $12,000 a year, apportioned among all the gas consumers here.

Wasik told Council if the case was not settled locally and went before the PUCO, it might cost the utility $50,000. Ohio law allows the company to recover the cost by tacking it onto its East Liverpool bills, spread over a period of five years, he said.

IN ADDITION, if the city contested the case, it could expect to spend $15,000 for counsel and expert testimony, he said.

Wasik is utility commissioner for the city of Akron, representing it on all rate case questions. In addition he has served as consultant on gas, electric, telephone and transportation rates in Springfield, Toledo, Twinsburg, Maumee, Marysville, Struthers, Tiffin, Hamilton and other Ohio cities.

Asked for his opinion by Council, he said he feels Ohio Valley would get a larger increase than it asked in the local negotiations if it went before the PUCO, but not the full amount sought in its petition.

As the discussion ended, the councilmen were polled on the proposal for a 5-cent hike in a four-year contract. Cooper was asked to advise Council of Ohio Valley's reply.

Wasik said the utility has 6,348 area customers, of whom 5,382 use gas for home heating. That leaves 966 "non - heating" customers, he said.

Candidates

James W. Young, 714 Laura Ave., also for the Democratic nomination for Second Ward councilman.

Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., Gardendale, former councilman, and Albert J. Garvey of Canton St., both for the Democratic nomination for Third Ward councilman.

At the same time, Wellsville gained a new mayoralty candidate.

Allen C. Baldwin, 1708 Maple Ave., now a councilman-at-large, entered for the Democratic nomination.

Queried about the apparent incompatibility of a teacher's position and the mayor's post, Hall said he will retire from the faculty if nominated and elected. He explained he will complete 35 years as a teacher next Jan. 1.

Hall has been an East Liverpool High School teacher for 19 years. He is an instructor in American history and general business. He started his career as a teacher and principal in several systems in his native Scioto County.

Hall was high school basketball coach from 1946 to 1955. He never has sought elective office before. A brother, Stacy Hall, is a sheriff of Franklin County.

Hall is superintendent of the Sunday School at the First Methodist Church, president of the Kiwanis Club and a member of the Masonic Lodge. Married, he has a daughter and two grandchildren. He resides at 219 Pennsylvania Ave.

Cunningham, making his first bid for public office, is a scheduler in the production and planning department at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. where he has been employed for about 12 years.

He is vice president of Local 3177, clerical workers union at Crucible, and a member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. He was a tail gunner with an Air Force unit in World War II.

Married, he is the father of a daughter, 13, and two sons, 5 and 6.

Grimm, a carpenter in the maintenance shop at the Homer Laughlin China Co., also is making his first try at a political office.

Married and the father of three sons and two daughters, he is recording secretary of IBOP Local 172 and a member of the master shop committee at Laughlin's. He formerly managed a shoe store in Fostoria.

The new entrants are Gene A. Dean for clerk; DeErla R. Smith, treasurer; Dale McCormick and Homer Kridler, Council, and Donald J. Stelts, Clarence M. Bricker and Russell E. Smith for the Board of Public Affairs.

An eight - member Republican slate from Salem was filed late yesterday afternoon. It is: Thomas H. Coe, for solicitor; John E. Rance, Ralph K. Zimmerman and Joyce S. Wilson, all for Council-at-large; Robert G. Hanna, First Ward councilman; Charles Gibbs, Second Ward; Thomas B. Smith, Third Ward, and Richard L. Cobourn, Fourth Ward.

Smith, one of the new candidates for the Third Ward seat here, served in Council in 1960-61. An employe of the transportation department of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., he is married and the father of five children.

Smith is a native of East Liverpool and a Marine Corps veteran. He is treasurer of the Sunday School of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene.

Garvey, the other candidate in the Third Ward, is in the plant protection department at Crucible, where he has worked about 17 years. Making his first bid for elective office, he is married and the father of three sons.

He is a native of East Liverpool. Garvey attends the Full Gospel Assembly Church at Wellsville.

Baldwin was his party's candidate in the mayoralty race in 1957, winning in the primary over Mrs. Mary Rahter. He was defeated at the general election by former Mayor William Shoub.

Employed in the metallurgical laboratory at Crucible, he served two consecutive terms as Fourth Ward councilman.

Baldwin is now the city Democrat chairman. He was vice chairman and moved up upon the death of Charles Lewis last week. He is a member of the Wellsville Masonic Lodge and the Covenant United Presbyterian Church.

He is a member of the troop committee and treasurer of the committee of Boy Scout Troop 20 sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

Plan

moved to instruct the finance committee to study the commission's request. He was seconded by Councilman Edward Massey.

"There's a lot of talk about a master plan," Duffy said. "Does anyone have any definite projects in mind?"

"There have been several meetings to explain it," Councilman George Willshaw replied. "They were open to the public and most councilmen were there."

Then he explained that the federal government is expected to pay two-thirds of the cost of preparation of the plan if the city pays a third.

"I believe a master plan is necessary for future growth of East Liverpool," Willshaw said.

"Engineers can spend a lot of money and make a lot of mistakes," Duffy replied. "It's the same way with these grants. We had a grant to repair the River Rd., but we had to pay it back. I'm in favor of improvement of the city if you can do it without a whole lot of expense for engineering. I think we should go slow."

Councilman Floyd Murray said the Junior Chamber already has announced it plans to help educate the public on the need for a master plan.

"I think we're 10 to 15 years behind the times now," he added.

Councilman Edward Masey discussed the Jaycee meeting at length, calling it "very enlightening."

"It's too bad you couldn't be there; you would have had a lot of questions answered," he told Duffy.

Councilmen Kenneth C. Berg and S. James Welch also supported the master plan proposal. Welch said it "would be an asset to the city."

Then the discussion ended and the vote was taken referring the question to the finance committee.

In August, the company proposed a rate of 30 cents per 1,000 for the first 1,300 cubic feet; 78¼ cents per 1,000 for the next 298,700 cubic feet and 70 cents per 1,000 for all gas used beyond 300,000 cubic feet, he pointed out. It specified a minimum monthly charge of $2.65 — the same as at present.

The company's revised offer will reduce the second step in the August proposal from 78¼ cents to 77 cents, Wasik said. The city's 4-cent offer also was aimed only at the second step in the rate structure, cutting it from 78¼ to 76.

WASIK AND Cooper started their negotiations at 2 p. m. yesterday with four Ohio Valley executives — Walter Betsch, president, and Lee Briscoe, rate analyst, both of Columbus, Bruce Cox of Steubenville, special representative, and Harold Sneddon, local manager.

Acting on Council's instruction, Cooper reached Betsch by telephone this morning in Steubenville, where the utility president had gone after the negotiations ended last night.

Cooper said Betsch agreed to toss aside the company's argument for a two-year contract and grant the city a four-year contract with the rate averaging a boost of 5 cents per 1,000.

Betsch also agreed that the present $2.65 monthly minimum charge will be retained, although he previously had held out for a $3 minimum for the first 1,000 cubic feet, Cooper said.

UNDER THE new rate of 30 cents per 100 for the first 1,300 cubic feet, consumers will be able to use almost 900 cubic feet before topping the minimum charge, Cooper pointed out.

The solicitor said the next step to bind the agreement will be enactment by Council of legislation stipulating the new rates. He said the legislation can be prepared in time for the next regular session Feb. 18. It possibly could be drafted for an earlier special session, he added.

Before meeting with the utility, the solicitor and the rate consultant conferred for several hours to put the finishing touches on their case.

The company's application before the PUCO asked these new rates: 36 cents per 100 for the first 1,000 cubic feet; 11.4 cents per 100 for the next 9,000 cubic feet; 7.8 cents per 100 for the next 290,000 cubic feet, and 7 cents per 100 for any additional. It also asked a minimum monthly charge of $3.50.

Cooper and Wasik ended their negotiations with the gas company about 9, just as Council wound up its regular meeting. They then conferred with Council until nearly 11, discussing the negotiations.

"WE HAVE arrived at a point beyond which Mr. Cooper and I couldn't go without Council action," Wasik reported. Then he explained the company's offer and the city's counter-proposal.

The company's offer averaged out to 5 cents more per 1,000 cubic feet and the city's proposal, also based on an average, amounts to a 4-cent hike per 1,000, he said.

Then Wasik explained the utility's August proposal to Council and the propositions that were negotiated here yesterday. He said the difference of one cent would amount to a total of $12,000 a year, apportioned among all the gas consumers here.

Wasik told Council if the case was not settled locally and went before the PUCO, it might cost the utility $50,000. Ohio law allows the company to recover the cost by tacking it onto its East Liverpool bills, spread over a period of five years, he said.

IN ADDITION, if the city contested the case, it could expect to spend $15,000 for counsel and expert testimony, he said.

Wasik is utility commissioner for the city of Akron, representing it on all rate case questions. In addition he has served as consultant on gas, electric, telephone and transportation rates in Springfield, Toledo, Twinsburg, Maumee, Marysville, Struthers, Tiffin, Hamilton and other Ohio cities.

Asked for his opinion by Council, he said he feels Ohio Valley would get a larger increase than it asked in the local negotiations if it went before the PUCO, but not the full amount sought in its petition.

As the discussion ended, the councilmen were polled on the proposal for a 5-cent hike in a four-year contract. Cooper was asked to advise Council of Ohio Valley's reply.

Wasik said the utility has 6,348 area customers, of whom 5,382 use gas for home heating. That leaves 966 "non - heating" customers, he said.

James W. Young, 714 Laura Ave., also for the Democratic nomination for Second Ward councilman.

Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., Gardendale, former councilman, and Albert J. Garvey of Canton St., both for the Democratic nomination for Third Ward councilman.

At the same time, Wellsville gained a new mayoralty candidate.

Allen C. Baldwin, 1708 Maple Ave., now a councilman-at-large, entered for the Democratic nomination.

Queried about the apparent incompatibility of a teacher's position and the mayor's post, Hall said he will retire from the faculty if nominated and elected. He explained he will complete 35 years as a teacher next Jan. 1.

Hall has been an East Liverpool High School teacher for 19 years. He is an instructor in American history and general business. He started his career as a teacher and principal in several systems in his native Scioto County.

Hall was high school basketball coach from 1946 to 1955. He never has sought elective office before. A brother, Stacy Hall, is a sheriff of Franklin County.

Hall is superintendent of the Sunday School at the First Methodist Church, president of the Kiwanis Club and a member of the Masonic Lodge. Married, he has a daughter and two grandchildren. He resides at 219 Pennsylvania Ave.

Cunningham, making his first bid for public office, is a scheduler in the production and planning department at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. where he has been employed for about 12 years.

He is vice president of Local 3177, clerical workers union at Crucible, and a member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. He was a tail gunner with an Air Force unit in World War II.

Married, he is the father of a daughter, 13, and two sons, 5 and 6.

Grimm, a carpenter in the maintenance shop at the Homer Laughlin China Co., also is making his first try at a political office.

Married and the father of three sons and two daughters, he is recording secretary of IBOP Local 172 and a member of the master shop committee at Laughlin's. He formerly managed a shoe store in Fostoria.

Leetonia Republicans completed filing a slate of candidates.

The new entrants are Gene A. Dean for clerk; DeErla R. Smith, treasurer; Dale McCormick and Homer Kridler, Council, and Donald J. Stelts, Clarence M. Bricker and Russell E. Smith for the Board of Public Affairs.

An eight - member Republican slate from Salem was filed late yesterday afternoon. It is: Thomas H. Coe, for solicitor; John E. Rance, Ralph K. Zimmerman and Joyce S. Wilson, all for Council-at-large; Robert G. Hanna, First Ward councilman; Charles Gibbs, Second Ward; Thomas B. Smith, Third Ward, and Richard L. Coburn, Fourth Ward.

Smith, one of the new candidates for the Third Ward seat here, served in Council in 1960-61. An employe of the transportation department of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., he is married and the father of five children.

Smith is a native of East Liverpool and a Marine Corps veteran. He is treasurer of the Sunday School of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene.

Garvey, the other candidate in the Third Ward, is in the plant protection department at Crucible, where he has worked about 17 years. Making his first bid for elective office, he is married and the father of three sons.

He is a member of the troop committtee and treasurer of the committee of Boy Scout Troop 20 sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

Plan

moved to instruct the finance committee to study the commission's request. He was seconded by Councilman Edward Massey.

"There's a lot of talk about a master plan," Duffy said. "Does anyone have any definite projects in mind?"

"There have been several meetings to explain it," Councilman George Willshaw replied. "They were open to the public and most councilmen were there."

Then he explained that the federal government is expected to pay two-thirds of the cost of preparation of the plan if the city pays a third.

"I believe a master plan is necessary for future growth of East Liverpool," Willshaw said.

"Engineers can spend a lot of money and make a lot of mistakes," Duffy replied. "It's the same way with these grants. We had a grant to repair the River Rd., but we had to pay it back. I'm in favor of improvement of the city if you can do it without a whole lot of expense for engineering. I think we should go slow."

Councilman Floyd Murray said the Junior Chamber already has announced it plans to help educate the public on the need for a master plan.

"I think we're 10 to 15 years behind the times now," he added.

Councilman Edward Masey discussed the Jaycee meeting at length, calling it "very enlightening."

"It's too bad you couldn't be there; you would have had a lot of questions answered," he told Duffy.

Councilmen Kenneth C. Berg and S. James Welch also supported the master plan proposal. Welch said it "would be an asset to the city."

Then the discussion ended and the vote was taken referring the question to the finance committee.

Legislation Asked

Insurance Plans To Cost $13,440

Council instructed its finance committee Monday night to provide funds for life and hospitalization insurance plans for about 160 city employes, expected to cost the municipality approximately $13,400 a year.

The cost figures were presented to Council by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen, based on bids from underwriters which he and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet opened in December. He said the cost to the city figures out to $1,120 a month, provided all 160 eligible employes enroll.

OWEN explained Council's initial legislation authorized the administration only to call for bids. Before a deal can be closed, funds must be provided and there must be legislative authority for a contract to be signed, he said.

Costs will change if not all 160 employes enroll, Owen said. On the other hand, the city can expect to receive annual dividends that eventually will help reduce its costs, he said.

"What was the cost of the wage increases we granted — $79,000?" Councilman Frank Duffy asked Councilman George E. Willshaw, head of the finance committee.

"No, it is a little less than $50,000 a year," Willshaw replied. The general raises were voted effective Dec. 1.

COUNCILMAN Edward Massey said the minutes show Council approved a motion in early January asking presentation of legislation to implement the insurance program. But it has not been presented, he said.

Then he moved to instruct the finance committee to provide an appropriation for the program. The motion was approved unanimously.

In other business, Owen advised Council he has received an estimate of $6,500 for installing a new boiler in the City Hall heating system, replacing another which broke down in the cold wave last week.

He revealed the estimate at the request of Willshaw. Owen said a new gas-fired boiler would mean a saving in the city's monthly heating bill, as the present system has a gas conversion burner.

An engineer who inspected the heating system also recommended changes to "zone" the building's heat, equalizing it throughout the four floors, Owen said. In that way, areas that now have too little heat would receive additional service and those with too much heat would be made more temperate, he said.

THE "ZONING" would cost $1,000 to $1,500, which would mean an outlay of $8,000 in all for the new system, he said.

Willshaw enlarged on a proposal which he made at the meeting Jan. 21 calling for appointment of an East Liverpool Recreation Council.

He pointed out the city already has an organization by that name, functioning with money provided through the Community Fund.

"It wasn't Council's intention to work in opposition to the Recreation Council," Willshaw said, citing the similarity in names.

"It was the intent that this group would act on matters relating to property owned or controlled by the city. I want to clear that up so there will be no misunderstanding."

Councilman Floyd Murray said his planning committee, also acting under instructions from Council Jan. 21, has been surveying possible playground sites in various parts of the city. Murray has asked for interested persons to point out possible playground sites to him but he said: "I haven't had a call from any interested group."

"Maybe no one is interested," he added.

MURRAY said he received a complaint from John Mason of 1st Ave. that water was flowing into his cellar. Mason claims the water comes from a fire plug the city installed last year, Murray said.

Owen replied the street department already has been asked to investigate Mason's complaint.

Murray asked an investigation by the street committee, the director and Engineer George Bloomgren on the possibility of repairing high retaining walls overlooking Pennsylvania Ave.

Owen said a company already has been asked to make an estimate on the costs, but its representative never has come to East Liverpool.

COUNCILMAN Kenneth C. Berg said he has received many complaints of all-day parkers usurping space in residential districts, particularly E. 4th St. He asked Owen what time-limit is fixed on parking in unmetered areas. Owen said he believes the maximum is 48 hours.

Berg also said he has been asked by several residents when the Gardendale sanitary sewer project will get under way.

"It's still in the engineering and planning stage," Owen said. "Definite strides are being made."

Then Councilman S. James Welch reviewed conversations with Bloomgren about the project, adding "it is hoped it will be started this summer."

Welch thanked the administration for recent installation of street lights on Lincoln Ave. at E. 8th St. and Ogden St. He said the street committee has recommended seal-coating for streets treated last year in a low - cost surfacing program.

COUNCIL accepted a recommendation from Owen that the city will not purchase any expensive new snow removal equipment —at least for the present.

The action was taken as a result of demonstration of equipment here last week—a rotary plow and a "travel loader." Several councilmen commented on the operation of the machines in the demonstrations.

Council referred to the finance committee a letter from the Board of Public Utilities requesting a $5,000 appropriation to purchase a new air compressor for the water department. The letter was signed by Walter O. Schneider, chairman of the board.

Willshaw reported the finance committee has agreed to recommend a 25-cent hourly pay boost for a dozen adult school crossing guards. The guards now are paid $1 hourly. They work an average of three hours daily — 15 hours per week. The hike will raise the average pay from $3 to $3.75 daily, Willshaw explained. The boost was recommended several weeks ago by the administration.

MASSEY, reporting for the claims committee, recommended rejection of three bills against the city. They were filed by: Robert Blake of Chester, who said his auto was hit by cinders from a city ash spreader; Arthur Geer, 322 W. 3rd St., who said his house was damaged in the same fashion, and Ralph Unger of Lisbon St., who said a sewer backed into his cellar.

Massey said the committee is continuing to study a claim from Spencer Kidder of Crawford Ave., who said a gas line on his property was ripped out by a city grader.

Duffy declared Kidder's claim "is just." He said Kidder was without gas service four days after the mishap.

Duffy said that Oakland residents "wonder why the city stopped short of Oakland when it was clearing snow off the streets." He said he also has received requests for regular ashing of slippery turns at Neville School and also at Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St. He said city crews sometimes overlook the two spots.

Sports Car Fire Damage Heavy

A 1960 foreign auto was damaged extensively Monday afternoon by a fire caused when a spark from a welding torch ignited gasoline leaking from a tank, firemen reported.

The flames damaged the entire rear end and tires of the four-door Jaguar owned by William Gill while it was being repaired in White's Alignment, 1532 Pennsylvania Ave.

Charles E. White, garage operator, told firemen he was welding the tailpipe of the sedan near the gas tank when the leaking gasoline caught fire and the flames spread over the entire rear end.

Firemen said White backed the auto out to the doorway where the gasoline spilled onto the street sending high flames over the rear end. There apparently was no damage to the concrete block building.

Trucks from East End and Central Stations responded to the alarm at 2:37 p. m. and firemen needed about 45 minutes to quell the fire.

Bodies Of 2 Yanks To Be Shipped Home

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The bodies of two U.S. Air Force captains killed in the crash of their B26 fighter-bomber will be shipped home Wednesday.

The two men, both pilots assigned to flying Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers, were Capt. John E. Bartley Jr., 31, of Findlay, Ohio, and Capt. John F. Shaughnessy Jr., 30, of Port Chester, N.Y.

Bartley is survived by his wife, Betty, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., and his father, John F. Bartley Sr.

Bartley, Shaughnessy and a Vietnamese observer were killed Sunday when their plane went down as they were strafing Communist guerrillas 110 miles southwest of Saigon. It has not been determined whether the plane was shot down.

Skid Blamed In Crash Of City, Chester Cars

About $300 damage was caused to a city man's auto when it skidded into the rear of another car in Chester Monday afternoon, Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens reported.

A 1958 sedan operated by Leland B. Kennedy, 62, of 1428 Dresden Ave. was headed east when it struck the rear of a 1956 sedan driven by William Nicholas, 59, of Chester R. D. 1 at Carolina Ave. and 2nd St. about 3:50 p. m. Chief Lennens said.

No one was injured, he added. Nicholas was halted for a traffic signal at the time, and his car received only minor damage, Chief Lennens said.

Third Of 6 Who Fled Franklin's Jail Is Captured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The third of six prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin County jail three weeks ago was back there today following his capture in an auto chase on U.S. 23 south of Piketon.

FBI agents and Chillicothe police said Russell Smith, 33, of Chillicothe gave up without incident Monday night when officers headed off the car in which he and two other men were riding.

The 20-mile chase began when Chillicothe Police Chief George Rice recognized Smith and informed the FBI.

The FBI entered the case because of a federal warrant charging Smith with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for a felony.

In the car with Smith were a man identified as Earl Johnson, said to be a brother of James Johnson, 33-year-old Clevelander who was among the escapees, and an unidentified man who was questioned and released.

Still at large, in addition to James Johnson, are Credell Beel, 28, Columbus, and Phillip Kelley, 26, of Springfield.

Billy Gene Carter, 25, and James Eleyet, 20, both of Columbus, were returned to custody earlier.

"It's still in the engineering and planning stage," Owen said. "Definite strides are being made."

Then Councilman S. James Welch reviewed conversations with Bloomgren about the project, adding "it is hoped it will be started this summer."

Welch thanked the administration for recent installation of street lights on Lincoln Ave. at E. 8th St. and Ogden St. He said the street committee has recommended seal-coating for streets treated last year in a low - cost surfacing program.

COUNCIL accepted a recommendation from Owen that the city will not purchase any expensive new snow removal equipment —at least for the present.

The action was taken as a result of demonstration of equipment here last week—a rotary plow and a "travel loader." Several councilmen commented on the operation of the machines in the demonstrations.

Council referred to the finance committee a letter from the Board of Public Utilities requesting a $5,000 appropriation to purchase a new air compressor for the water department. The letter was signed by Walter O. Schneider, chairman of the board.

Willshaw reported the finance committee has agreed to recommend a 25-cent hourly pay boost for a dozen adult school crossing guards. The guards now are paid $1 hourly. They work an average of three hours daily — 15 hours per week. The hike will raise the average pay from $3 to $3.75 daily, Willshaw explained. The boost was recommended several weeks ago by the administration.

MASSEY, reporting for the claims committee, recommended rejection of three bills against the city. They were filed by: Robert Blake of Chester, who said his auto was hit by cinders from a city ash spreader; Arthur Geer, 322 W. 3rd St., who said his house was damaged in the same fashion, and Ralph Unger of Lisbon St., who said a sewer backed into his cellar.

Massey said the committee is continuing to study a claim from Spencer Kidder of Crawford Ave., who said a gas line on his property was ripped out by a city grader.

Duffy declared Kidder's claim "is just." He said Kidder was without gas service four days after the mishap.

Duffy said that Oakland residents "wonder why the city stopped short of Oakland when it was clearing snow off the streets." He said he also has received requests for regular ashing of slippery turns at Neville School and also at Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St. He said city crews sometimes overlook the two spots.

Sports Car Fire Damage Heavy

A 1960 foreign auto was damaged extensively Monday afternoon by a fire caused when a spark from a welding torch ignited gasoline leaking from a tank, firemen reported.

The flames damaged the entire rear end and tires of the four-door Jaguar owned by William Gill while it was being repaired in White's Alignment, 1532 Pennsylvania Ave.

Charles E. White, garage operator, told firemen he was welding the tailpipe of the sedan near the gas tank when the leaking gasoline caught fire and the flames spread over the entire rear end.

Firemen said White backed the auto out to the doorway where the gasoline spilled onto the street sending high flames over the rear end. There apparently was no damage to the concrete block building.

Trucks from East End and Central Stations responded to the alarm at 2:37 p. m. and firemen needed about 45 minutes to quell the fire.

Bodies Of 2 Yanks To Be Shipped Home

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The bodies of two U.S. Air Force captains killed in the crash of their B26 fighter-bomber will be shipped home Wednesday.

The two men, both pilots assigned to flying Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers, were Capt. John E. Bartley Jr., 31, of Findlay, Ohio, and Capt. John F. Shaughnessy Jr., 30, of Port Chester, N.Y.

Bartley is survived by his wife, Betty, of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., and his father, John F. Bartley Sr.

Bartley, Shaughnessy and a Vietnamese observer were killed Sunday when their plane went down as they were strafing Communist guerrillas 110 miles southwest of Saigon. It has not been determined whether the plane was shot down.

Skid Blamed In Crash Of City, Chester Cars

About $300 damage was caused to a city man's auto when it skidded into the rear of another car in Chester Monday afternoon, Acting Police Chief Clarence Lennens reported.

A 1958 sedan operated by Leland B. Kennedy, 62, of 1428 Dresden Ave. was headed east when it struck the rear of a 1956 sedan driven by William Nicholas, 59, of Chester R. D. 1 at Carolina Ave. and 2nd St. about 3:50 p. m. Chief Lennens said.

No one was injured, he added. Nicholas was halted for a traffic signal at the time, and his car received only minor damage, Chief Lennens said.

Third Of 6 Who Fled Franklin's Jail Is Captured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The third of six prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin County jail three weeks ago was back there today following his capture in an auto chase on U.S. 23 south of Piketon.

FBI agents and Chillicothe police said Russell Smith, 33, of Chillicothe gave up without incident Monday night when officers headed off the car in which he and two other men were riding.

The 20-mile chase began when Chillicothe Police Chief George Rice recognized Smith and informed the FBI.

The FBI entered the case because of a federal warrant charging Smith with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for a felony.

In the car with Smith were a man identified as Earl Johnson, said to be a brother of James Johnson, 33-year-old Clevelander who was among the escapees, and an unidentified man who was questioned and released.

Still at large, in addition to James Johnson, are Credell Beel, 28, Columbus, and Phillip Kelley, 26, of Springfield.

Billy Gene Carter, 25, and James Eleyet, 20, both of Columbus, were returned to custody earlier.

The News And Views On Cuba

When the Pentagon and the White House, backed by the Central Intelligence Agency, say they know what's happening in Cuba, they're on the defensive.

They didn't know what was happening last fall until President Kennedy found out, according to his admission on Oct. 23, on Oct. 16, one week before he blew the whistle.

The President's admission that the Soviet Union had completed installations for blowing the United States apart with nuclear missiles hardly constituted a discovery. Unofficial sources of information had been buzzing with the same information for weeks.

Unofficial sources are buzzing again. One day soon there will be another White House admission, with another ultimatum. The last one, it's recalled, ended in a swap of President Kennedy's order to dismantle the U.S. missile base in Turkey for Premier Khruschchev's promise to dismantle the Soviet Union base in Cuba.

IT IS BEING reported so frequently and openly that Russian weaponry and manpower in Cuba are being beefed up that official protestations of ignorance are not convincing.

The truth is, official sources are not as ignorant as they appear to be; they couldn't be. They are restricted in what they can say; they cannot indulge themselves in hearsay and unconfirmed reports.

They must prove what they report, and the officials they report it to must be able to back up what they say. To take the country to the brink of war, as President Kennedy most certainly took it last October, is not a decision that can be based on second-hand testimony. He had incontrovertible evidence—aerial photographs of Russian missile bases.

This time Khrushchev will not make that mistake; he will keep everything concealed. If Russia intended to use Cuba as a base for submarines capable of discharging nuclear missiles, there would be no need to reveal anything. The submarines themselves could be hidden with no trouble. The organization and equipment for maintaining the Cuban base would look like the organization and equipment to defend Cuba against an attack from the United States.

IT IS A SAD situation when Americans must get news and views on Cuba from sources that are in conflict with each other —sadder still when unofficial reports take precedence over official ones.

It is impossible to believe the official version that the United States sees nothing of major significance going on in Cuba.

That most certainly does not say nothing of major significance is going on, only that the government cannot see anything of major significance going on.

With Sympathy To The Europeans

When stories of winter hardship are swapped among Americans, they are chiefly concerned with automotive problems.

Occasionally they deal with what happened when central heating failed for one reason or another.

Only rarely do they arise from life-and-death emergencies like those that have become commonplace in Europe during the most relentlessly cruel winter in memory. Few Americans can comprehend what it would be like to endure winter weather under circumstances common in Europe.

Central heating is the exception. Many buildings are not heated in any way—churches, libraries, museums and so on.

Even plumbing that is modern by European standards was not designed for cold weather. In many houses, pipes are carried up on the exterior of the house.

Fuel is hard to come by at best, impossible to find when the search becomes competitive. Food supplies are likewise at a minimum when demand increases.

Road and rail travel and communications are not adapted to harsh weather. In even a light snow, London and Paris are more helpless than Washington, D.C.

Few Europeans possess suitable clothing for severe weather. Nothing about their customary routine of living has prepared them for the savage storms and cruel temperatures of this worst of all conceivable winters.

It is something to remember the next time the car heater fails to work, or an ear gets frost-bitten. Millions of Europeans are not only inconvenienced this winter; they are suffering.

Toughest Nut In Retraining

It makes sense to start a pilot retraining project in the District of Columbia, where federal officials can see for themselves what the problems are and look for on-the-spot solutions.

There are reported to be 12,500 District of Columbia residents unemployed. But of special significance is the estimate that more than half of them cannot read and write well enough to hold a job requiring minimum performance of these basic skills.

Here is the part of job retraining that is hardest to talk about because no one knows what to do. It is easy to say that unemployed adults who cannot read and write well enough to hold a job requiring reading and writing should make up these deficiencies as part of their retraining. It is not easy to acknowledge that many cannot read and write because they were unable to learn when they went to school.

It is similarly easy to say that school dropout is a major problem because dropouts cannot hope to hold a job in competition with people who stay in school. But it is not easy to face the fact that many so-called dropouts had no choice. They had no aptitude for even the most basic training.

As one harassed employment official being pressured to make giant strides in job retraining put it after a day of interviews, "How can we be expected to create employment opportunities for men and women who can't even read 'Help Wanted' ads in newspapers?"

Basic literacy is perequisite to successful training or retraining.

The blunt truth is that many people who cannot read and write were unable to learn when they had a chance and could do no better now than they did then.

For them, job retraining would have to start with a miracle of education.

Lest We Forget

By Truman Twill

"Remind me," I grated to the lady who has been freezing her ears with me this winter, "not to forget next summer how peeved I am about all this."

She promised. What did I propose to do about it, though, next summer, she wondered. Did I really want to carry my bitterness into warm weather?

The answer was Yes. I wanted to remember how it felt to walk in a blizzard with snow piling up behind my glasses until I could see nothing. I didn't want to forget what it was like to step inside the house for half a minute to get something and have my glasses cloud over so they had to be removed, after my stocking cap and face mask had been removed first.

What I proposed to do, I explained, was to make a list of words suitable for the occasion and speakable in the presence of children, so whenever I thought of freezing fingers, aching toes, frost-bitten ears and the back-breaking toil of shoveling snow from under stuck cars and breaking sliding barn doors free from the clinging sheet ice that formed at their base I could do justice to my feelings.

What had happened this winter, I explained, was that I had grown weary of hearing myself be profane about a climate that inflicted unremitting discomfort and trouble.

I would feel the same way about the rain jungles of Brazil, the fetid swamps of Florida, the wind-blown wastes of Texas, or California in flood-time. The weather would get to me if I were trying to brave it out in the Arctic, being fried in the desert, or destroyed by rot in one of the fungus-infested South Sea islands.

But I was tired of trying to do justice to this sort of thing with a vocabulary limited to self-learned and self-taught profanity and obscenity. I wanted something high-brow that could be ripped off in front of children and men of the cloth.

Words like arrant, foul, base, vile, low ignominious, perfidious, mean, paltry, dirty, scurvy, scabby, sneaking, debased, contemptuous, irresponsible, hateful, obnoxious, irritating, horrible, exasperating, infuriating, maddening . . .

With words like these, I could memorize a spate of hate for winter that would run on for minutes, which would be an improvement over the machinegun bursts of foul language I had been using. The lady who covers her ears when I get going good wondered what fired me up.

Then she saw the trouble. My new gadget —my snow blower—was sitting at the bottom of a hill. I had been playing with it, practicing to get the hang of its operation so when it snows I can blow snow out of our long lane. I didn't know there was ice from the previous day's rain beneath the snow. When I reached the bottom of the hill, the snow blower couldn't chug to the top because it lacked traction in a snow-covered skating rink.

Words like these, I explained, could be ripped out anwhere.

If I put them in a list, I explained, I could read the list every day all summer and keep my anger alive. The lady shoved me out the door and said, "That would be ridiculous. Go outside and get it off your chest. What were you doing with your plaything at the bottom of the hill anyway? Go put some nice snow into the hole in your head, you unmentionable name of an unprintable so and so derived from a calamitous cross between a you-know-what and something that beggars description."

History's first flight into the strafosphere was made in 1931 when the late Swiss physicist, Professor Auguste Piccard, with Charles Knipfer, ascended in a balloon from Augsburg, Germany, and reached a height of 51,793 feet in a 17-hour flight that terminated on a glacier near Innsbruck, Austria.

Shakedown Cruise

U.S. Has Proof Of Cuba Buildup

By Victor Riesel

Over a bridge of freighters reaching from Riga to Havana, the Soviets are rushing heavy, ultra-modern materiel for military —as well as economic — offensives against some still unknown Latin targets.

Victor Riesel

There is evidence in the files of U.S. intelligence services to prove that over this waterborne route flow supersonic fighter planes, mobile electric power stations by the score, ingredients for new airports—industrial goods ranging from motors to a brush factory. The latter was supplied the other day by East Germany.

There is no doubt of the new Soviet buildup.

There are, for example, four recently improved airports. Allegedly these are for the use of Russian light craft for agricultural work.

However, the veterans among the government-in-exile groupings report their own agents have only recently informed them the airports have military capabilities. Least there be any doubt, it should be known that the new runways are at Colon, Santa Clara, Ciego de Avila and Bayamo.

FURTHERMORE, the regular airports now are being adapted for jet fighter use. And they are used.

On Jan. 9, the Ministry of the Revolutionary Armed Forces notified the Cuban public not be alarmed by what would seem to be explosive noise. These would be merely jet planes breaking the sound barrier—the sonic boom familiar to many of us who have been near our own military air depots.

The specific announcement from the Revolutionary Ministry warned the people not to be alarmed by such detonations between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon. There would be "more jet plane flights over the national territory" at Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas, Las Villas and Camaguey.

To rework an old Russian proverb, aircraft is not a potato, nor does it grow in the ground like an onion.

The military equipment, including swift amphibious vehicles, and the industrial supplies are being ferried by two commercial armadas.

ONE IS from the Soviet European bloc. During the winter months it runs from Riga to Cuba. During the summer, or ice-free seasons, it is extended to Leningrad.

The fleet had to be peeled off the regular Soviet merchant marine because the Cubans now have only 19 vessels of their own—and most of them are rickety tubs.

The new tonnage is being added swiftly. Poland is building three vessels—the Camilo Cienfuegos, the Gonzalez Linez and the Aracelio Iglesias.

Four other cargo carriers for the Soviet-Cuban run are being constructed in Finland. They'll be motor vessels of 10,000 tons each.

The other fleet is being supplied by our NATO partners. They still are on the Havana run. We still permit some of their operators to do business with the United States—though these same ships also are running to ports of Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

This is the home base of the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas who have killed many American soldiers in South Viet Nam.

IF YOU don't believe there is a war in South Viet Nam, then spend some time, as I just did, at Scott Field near Belleville, Ill. Some of our overseas-bound military are phased there.

There families know there's a war on. Yet ships of non-Communist nations help supply the homeland of our enemy in Southeast Asia as well as our enemy in the Caribbean.

These ships, as well as the Soviet fleet, supply the Castro government with the equipment for its industrial offensive in Latin America.

Though the Soviets are in desperate need of the machinery, Moscow is pouring into Cuba so Havana can in turn eventually become a commercial and productive showplace.

Then it can begin dumping products into Latin America—making friends and opening markets.

There is, for example the steady flow of supplies from the Vladimir Ilich (Lenin) electromechanical products plant in Moscow.

IT HAS given Cuba priority for well over a year. In 1962 it dispatched 120 big motors and 55 mobile electric power plants to the Fidelistas. This is just one plant of scores which are functioning chiefly for Cuba.

As for the new Russian specialists and military technicians, they are coming over regularly on three vessels. One is the famous Baltika, which brought N. S. Khrushchev to New York for his shoe-banging performance at the U.N. The others are the Mikhail Kalinin and the Maria Ulianova.

There you have it — names, dates, details. There's a buildup, that's for certain.

Unsound Economics

By David Lawrence

Annual Steel Reports Are Cited

A significant piece of news in the last few days casts doubt on the soundness of the administration's economic policy — which is that, if the government stimulates spending and thus increases the volume of sales, profits will rise.

David Lawrence

Three of the biggest steel companies have just issued their annual reports. These show that, for the year 1962, although sales went up, profits went down. They show also the total effect of President Kennedy's error in judgment when last April he ordered governmental agencies to use all their powers to coerce the big steel companies into abandoning a proposed price increase of three-tenths of a cent a pound.

The U. S. Steel Corp.'s report for 1962 has just come out. The company's sales went up by $163 million, but profits went down $6 million. A few days later, the annual reports of Bethlehem Steel Co. and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. were published.

HOW LONG will investors be inclined to supply funds for new equipment if the outlook for dividends is discouraging?

Also, even after taking into account the new tax rules permitting larger depreciation reserves, the U. S. Steel Corp.'s net profits for 1962 were $6 million behind net profits for 1961.

Yet this narrow margin of profit comes when the total volume is up more than one million tons. In 1953 and again in 1955, the U. S. Steel Corp. had an output of 25 million tons of steel, but this volume has steadily gone down until it reached 18 million last year.

There have been few changes in steel prices in recent years, while expenses — largely wage costs—have steadily gone up faster than the employers could absorb them.

Even though the gross national product has risen, steel has faced a steadily decreasing volume of sales in the last few years. This is because previous high sales were due primarily to wartime conditions or to the catching up by buyers in connection with periods of recession or strikes or threats of strikes.

GROWTH MUST be at a normal rate to make a steady increase in profits from a larger volume of sales. Wages cannot go up out of proportion to the rate of profit increase and yet maintain a healthy condition.

That's really the fundamental trouble with the American economy today, and the administration has not faced up to the facts.

Thus, labor exercises a virtual monopoly throughout the industry and the government sits by and allows the wage factor to be thrust into the business mechanism arbitrarily and without guidance or restraint.

Price is the crucial factor in modern industry. Nowhere has it been more conclusively demonstrated that misguided labor policies have dealt a severe blow to national progress than in steel. This industry does a volume of $15 billion a year, and the fabricators and related manufacturing businesses do another $15 billion in sales.

So it is well worthwhile for the government to take a good look at what it's one-sided handling of the steel controversy in April 1962 has done to a major industry.

At least 100,000 steel workers are today jobless. This means a lost payroll of $500 million a year. Tax cuts will not help those unemployed persons, nor will "consumer spending" help increase profits unless wage costs are overcome either through new machinery or increased prices.

If the prices proposed for steel had gone into effect in April 1962, they would never have been uniform anyway. They would have been selective so as to enable the companies to compete with foreign producers while, at the same time, moving up their own rates on certain products that Europeans cannot make competitively.

IN THIS very complex system of price making, the administration intervened and slowed down a $30 billion industry. Yet Mr. Kennedy said on TV last December that, if he had it to do all over again, he would proceed exactly the same way he did before.

Perhaps last week's steel figures will be helpful in persuading the administration that the time has come to something about the disruptive effects of high wage demands. For the present steel contract is coming up soon for possible reopening by labor.

The union leaders of the national level are said to be hesitant to ask for wage increases now, but rumblings are heard among the local leaders who have political ambitions inside the unions.

The administration could do a constructive job of education at these levels and give the steel industry a chance to recover before it is faced with more wage increases.

Shadowy Figure

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Ever since President Kennedy took office his secretary of state, Dean Rusk, has been an almost shadowy figure. Kennedy casts the shadow. Rusk walks in it. Kennedy makes the pronouncements Rusk echoes them.

It's startling when his State Department—meaning Rusk — does something he says Kennedy didn't know about and, to boot, winds up in effect apologizing for it. This just happened with Canada.

Rusk took the responsibility for the embarrassment. If Kennedy took the responsibility it would be twice as embarrassing, and harder to explain.

Because so little is known of Rusk's behind-the-scenes role in making foreign policy — or how much Kennedy listens to him—it would be unfair to say he is a negative secretary or the opposite.

It can be said that his public statements, either on television or in news conferences, are usually dull and uninspired. Some newsmen have gone to sleep listening to them. Try concentrating on his words some time if you're watching television.

The dullness is in his accumulated generalities or his repetitions of what is already known about the administration's position on some phase of foreign policy or on some American policy position established long before Kennedy.

Some typical examples of Rusk in action:

It is important to continue talks with the Soviets about Berlin "to see if we can't find some way to manage that problem without a crisis." When he said that last November it was already old stuff.

In short, when Rusk rubs two sticks together he doesn't make a fire.

Since Kennedy promised to be a take-charge president, and dominates his entire administration anyway, it's no surprise that Rusk has been in the background, looking more like a foreign policy technician than a creator.

But Kennedy would have had an inducement anyway to boss the show after watching President Eisenhower for years get criticized for letting his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, a very self-asserting man, dominate foreign policy.

There was no middleman between Eisenhower and Dulles, no middleman to make life a little more difficult for the secretary or even frustrating him. Whether Rusk has to contend with one isn't clear.

McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean, is Kennedy's highly trusted special assistant on national security affairs. It can't be said precisely how much part he has in making foreign policy or whether Kennedy listens to him more than to Rusk.

Last week the State Department publicly criticized the Canadian government of Prime Minister Diefenbaker for not doing enough to defend North America. This country wants Canada to put nuclear tips on Canada's main weapons.

Diefenbaker bawled out Americans for interfering in Canadians' business. Rusk apologized. He said no offense was meant. This was odd and can be looked at from a couple of directions:

1. That the State Department fumbled in the use of language although it had plenty of time to figure out the effect of each word it used and what the Canadian reaction might be.

2. Or, Rusk was so anxious to get the Canadians moving that he was willing to risk Diefenbaker's wrath, since he could always explain his intention was good if the wording wasn't.

Rusk got action but it's too soon to say he'll get the result he sought.

The News And Views On Cuba

When the Pentagon and the White House, backed by the Central Intelligence Agency, say they know what's happening in Cuba, they're on the defensive.

They didn't know what was happening last fall until President Kennedy found out, according to his admission on Oct. 23, on Oct. 16, one week before he blew the whistle.

The President's admission that the Soviet Union had completed installations for blowing the United States apart with nuclear missiles hardly constituted a discovery. Unofficial sources of information had been buzzing with the same information for weeks.

Unofficial sources are buzzing again. One day soon there will be another White House admission, with another ultimatum. The last one, it's recalled, ended in a swap of President Kennedy's order to dismantle the U.S. missile base in Turkey for Premier Khruschchev's promise to dismantle the Soviet Union base in Cuba.

IT IS BEING reported so frequently and openly that Russian weaponry and manpower in Cuba are being beefed up that official protestations of ignorance are not convincing.

The truth is, official sources are not as ignorant as they appear to be; they couldn't be. They are restricted in what they can say; they cannot indulge themselves in hearsay and unconfirmed reports.

They must prove what they report, and the officials they report it to must be able to back up what they say. To take the country to the brink of war, as President Kennedy most certainly took it last October, is not a decision that can be based on second-hand testimony. He had incontrovertible evidence—aerial photographs of Russian missile bases.

This time Khrushchev will not make that mistake; he will keep everything concealed. If Russia intended to use Cuba as a base for submarines capable of discharging nuclear missiles, there would be no need to reveal anything. The submarines themselves could be hidden with no trouble. The organization and equipment for maintaining the Cuban base would look like the organization and equipment to defend Cuba against an attack from the United States.

IT IS A SAD situation when Americans must get news and views on Cuba from sources that are in conflict with each other —sadder still when unofficial reports take precedence over official ones.

It is impossible to believe the official version that the United States sees nothing of major significance going on in Cuba.

That most certainly does not say nothing of major significance is going on, only that the government cannot see anything of major significance going on.

With Sympathy To The Europeans

When stories of winter hardship are swapped among Americans, they are chiefly concerned with automotive problems.

Occasionally they deal with what happened when central heating failed for one reason or another.

Only rarely do they arise from life-and-death emergencies like those that have become commonplace in Europe during the most relentlessly cruel winter in memory. Few Americans can comprehend what it would be like to endure winter weather under circumstances common in Europe.

Central heating is the exception. Many buildings are not heated in any way—churches, libraries, museums and so on.

Even plumbing that is modern by European standards was not designed for cold weather. In many houses, pipes are carried up on the exterior of the house.

Fuel is hard to come by at best, impossible to find when the search becomes competitive. Food supplies are likewise at a minimum when demand increases.

Road and rail travel and communications are not adapted to harsh weather. In even a light snow, London and Paris are more helpless than Washington, D.C.

Few Europeans possess suitable clothing for severe weather. Nothing about their customary routine of living has prepared them for the savage storms and cruel temperatures of this worst of all conceivable winters.

It is something to remember the next time the car heater fails to work, or an ear gets frost-bitten. Millions of Europeans are not only inconvenienced this winter; they are suffering.

Toughest Nut In Retraining

It makes sense to start a pilot retraining project in the District of Columbia, where federal officials can see for themselves what the problems are and look for on-the-spot solutions.

There are reported to be 12,500 District of Columbia residents unemployed. But of special significance is the estimate that more than half of them cannot read and write well enough to hold a job requiring minimum performance of these basic skills.

Here is the part of job retraining that is hardest to talk about because no one knows what to do. It is easy to say that unemployed adults who cannot read and write well enough to hold a job requiring reading and writing should make up these deficiencies as part of their retraining. It is not easy to acknowledge that many cannot read and write because they were unable to learn when they went to school.

It is similarly easy to say that school dropout is a major problem because dropouts cannot hope to hold a job in competition with people who stay in school. But it is not easy to face the fact that many so-called dropouts had no choice. They had no aptitude for even the most basic training.

As one harassed employment official being pressured to make giant strides in job retraining put it after a day of interviews, "How can we be expected to create employment opportunities for men and women who can't even read 'Help Wanted' ads in newspapers?"

Basic literacy is perequisite to successful training or retraining.

The blunt truth is that many people who cannot read and write were unable to learn when they had a chance and could do no better now than they did then.

For them, job retraining would have to start with a miracle of education.

Lest We Forget

By Truman Twill

"Remind me," I grated to the lady who has been freezing her ears with me this winter, "not to forget next summer how peeved I am about all this."

She promised. What did I propose to do about it, though, next summer, she wondered. Did I really want to carry my bitterness into warm weather?

The answer was Yes. I wanted to remember how it felt to walk in a blizzard with snow piling up behind my glasses until I could see nothing. I didn't want to forget what it was like to step inside the house for half a minute to get something and have my glasses cloud over so they had to be removed, after my stocking cap and face mask had been removed first.

What I proposed to do, I explained, was to make a list of words suitable for the occasion and speakable in the presence of children, so whenever I thought of freezing fingers, aching toes, frost-bitten ears and the back-breaking toil of shoveling snow from under stuck cars and breaking sliding barn doors free from the clinging sheet ice that formed at their base I could do justice to my feelings.

What had happened this winter, I explained, was that I had grown weary of hearing myself be profane about a climate that inflicted unremitting discomfort and trouble.

I would feel the same way about the rain jungles of Brazil, the fetid swamps of Florida, the wind-blown wastes of Texas, or California in flood-time. The weather would get to me if I were trying to brave it out in the Arctic, being fried in the desert, or destroyed by rot in one of the fungus-infested South Sea islands.

But I was tired of trying to do justice to this sort of thing with a vocabulary limited to self-learned and self-taught profanity and obscenity. I wanted something high-brow that could be ripped off in front of children and men of the cloth.

Words like arrant, foul, base, vile, low ignominious, perfidious, mean, paltry, dirty, scurvy, scabby, sneaking, debased, contemptuous, irresponsible, hateful, obnoxious, irritating, horrible, exasperating, infuriating, maddening . . .

With words like these, I could memorize a spate of hate for winter that would run on for minutes, which would be an improvement over the machinegun bursts of foul language I had been using. The lady who covers her ears when I get going good wondered what fired me up.

Then she saw the trouble. My new gadget —my snow blower—was sitting at the bottom of a hill. I had been playing with it, practicing to get the hang of its operation so when it snows I can blow snow out of our long lane. I didn't know there was ice from the previous day's rain beneath the snow. When I reached the bottom of the hill, the snow blower couldn't chug to the top because it lacked traction in a snow-covered skating rink.

Words like these, I explained, could be ripped out anwhere.

If I put them in a list, I explained, I could read the list every day all summer and keep my anger alive. The lady shoved me out the door and said, "That would be ridiculous. Go outside and get it off your chest. What were you doing with your plaything at the bottom of the hill anyway? Go put some nice snow into the hole in your head, you unmentionable name of an unprintable so and so derived from a calamitous cross between a you-know-what and something that beggars description."

History's first flight into the strafosphere was made in 1931 when the late Swiss physicist, Professor Auguste Piccard, with Charles Knipfer, ascended in a balloon from Augsburg, Germany, and reached a height of 51,793 feet in a 17-hour flight that terminated on a glacier near Innsbruck, Austria.

Shakedown Cruise

U.S. Has Proof Of Cuba Buildup

By Victor Riesel

Over a bridge of freighters reaching from Riga to Havana, the Soviets are rushing heavy, ultra-modern materiel for military —as well as economic — offensives against some still unknown Latin targets.

Victor Riesel

There is evidence in the files of U.S. intelligence services to prove that over this waterborne route flow supersonic fighter planes, mobile electric power stations by the score, ingredients for new airports—industrial goods ranging from motors to a brush factory. The latter was supplied the other day by East Germany.

Even the names of ships bringing in new groupings of Soviet specialists are known.

There is no doubt of the new Soviet buildup.

There are, for example, four recently improved airports. Allegedly these are for the use of Russian light craft for agricultural work.

However, the veterans among the government-in-exile groupings report their own agents have only recently informed them the airports have military capabilities. Least there be any doubt, it should be known that the new runways are at Colon, Santa Clara, Ciego de Avila and Bayamo.

FURTHERMORE, the regular airports now are being adapted for jet fighter use. And they are used.

On Jan. 9, the Ministry of the Revolutionary Armed Forces notified the Cuban public not be alarmed by what would seem to be explosive noise. These would be merely jet planes breaking the sound barrier—the sonic boom familiar to many of us who have been near our own military air depots.

The specific announcement from the Revolutionary Ministry warned the people not to be alarmed by such detonations between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon. There would be "more jet plane flights over the national territory" at Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas, Las Villas and Camaguey.

To rework an old Russian proverb, aircraft is not a potato, nor does it grow in the ground like an onion.

The military equipment, including swift amphibious vehicles, and the industrial supplies are being ferried by two commercial armadas.

ONE IS from the Soviet European bloc. During the winter months it runs from Riga to Cuba. During the summer, or ice-free seasons, it is extended to Leningrad.

The fleet had to be peeled off the regular Soviet merchant marine because the Cubans now have only 19 vessels of their own—and most of them are rickety tubs.

The new tonnage is being added swiftly. Poland is building three vessels—the Camilo Cienfuegos, the Gonzalez Linez and the Aracelio Iglesias.

Four other cargo carriers for the Soviet-Cuban run are being constructed in Finland. They'll be motor vessels of 10,000 tons each.

The other fleet is being supplied by our NATO partners. They still are on the Havana run. We still permit some of their operators to do business with the United States—though these same ships also are running to ports of Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam.

This is the home base of the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas who have killed many American soldiers in South Viet Nam.

IF YOU don't believe there is a war in South Viet Nam, then spend some time, as I just did, at Scott Field near Belleville, Ill. Some of our overseas-bound military are phased there.

There families know there's a war on. Yet ships of non-Communist nations help supply the homeland of our enemy in Southeast Asia as well as our enemy in the Caribbean.

These ships, as well as the Soviet fleet, supply the Castro government with the equipment for its industrial offensive in Latin America.

Though the Soviets are in desperate need of the machinery, Moscow is pouring into Cuba so Havana can in turn eventually become a commercial and productive showplace.

Then it can begin dumping products into Latin America—making friends and opening markets.

There is, for example the steady flow of supplies from the Vladimir Ilich (Lenin) electromechanical products plant in Moscow.

IT HAS given Cuba priority for well over a year. In 1962 it dispatched 120 big motors and 55 mobile electric power plants to the Fidelistas. This is just one plant of scores which are functioning chiefly for Cuba.

As for the new Russian specialists and military technicians, they are coming over regularly on three vessels. One is the famous Baltika, which brought N. S. Khrushchev to New York for his shoe-banging performance at the U.N. The others are the Mikhail Kalinin and the Maria Ulianova.

There you have it — names, dates, details. There's a buildup, that's for certain.

Unsound Economics

By David Lawrence

Annual Steel Reports Are Cited

A significant piece of news in the last few days casts doubt on the soundness of the administration's economic policy — which is that, if the government stimulates spending and thus increases the volume of sales, profits will rise.

David Lawrence

Three of the biggest steel companies have just issued their annual reports. These show that, for the year 1962, although sales went up, profits went down. They show also the total effect of President Kennedy's error in judgment when last April he ordered governmental agencies to use all their powers to coerce the big steel companies into abandoning a proposed price increase of three-tenths of a cent a pound.

The U. S. Steel Corp.'s report for 1962 has just come out. The company's sales went up by $163 million, but profits went down $6 million. A few days later, the annual reports of Bethlehem Steel Co. and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. were published.

HOW LONG will investors be inclined to supply funds for new equipment if the outlook for dividends is discouraging?

Also, even after taking into account the new tax rules permitting larger depreciation reserves, the U. S. Steel Corp.'s net profits for 1962 were $6 million behind net profits for 1961.

Yet this narrow margin of profit comes when the total volume is up more than one million tons. In 1953 and again in 1955, the U. S. Steel Corp. had an output of 25 million tons of steel, but this volume has steadily gone down until it reached 18 million last year.

There have been few changes in steel prices in recent years, while expenses — largely wage costs—have steadily gone up faster than the employers could absorb them.

Even though the gross national product has risen, steel has faced a steadily decreasing volume of sales in the last few years. This is because previous high sales were due primarily to wartime conditions or to the catching up by buyers in connection with periods of recession or strikes or threats of strikes.

GROWTH MUST be at a normal rate to make a steady increase in profits from a larger volume of sales. Wages cannot go up out of proportion to the rate of profit increase and yet maintain a healthy condition.

That's really the fundamental trouble with the American economy today, and the administration has not faced up to the facts.

Thus, labor exercises a virtual monopoly throughout the industry and the government sits by and allows the wage factor to be thrust into the business mechanism arbitrarily and without guidance or restraint.

Price is the crucial factor in modern industry. Nowhere has it been more conclusively demonstrated that misguided labor policies have dealt a severe blow to national progress than in steel. This industry does a volume of $15 billion a year, and the fabricators and related manufacturing businesses do another $15 billion in sales.

So it is well worthwhile for the government to take a good look at what it's one-sided handling of the steel controversy in April 1962 has done to a major industry.

At least 100,000 steel workers are today jobless. This means a lost payroll of $500 million a year. Tax cuts will not help those unemployed persons, nor will "consumer spending" help increase profits unless wage costs are overcome either through new machinery or increased prices.

If the prices proposed for steel had gone into effect in April 1962, they would never have been uniform anyway. They would have been selective so as to enable the companies to compete with foreign producers while, at the same time, moving up their own rates on certain products that Europeans cannot make competitively.

IN THIS very complex system of price making, the administration intervened and slowed down a $30 billion industry. Yet Mr. Kennedy said on TV last December that, if he had it to do all over again, he would proceed exactly the same way he did before.

Perhaps last week's steel figures will be helpful in persuading the administration that the time has come to something about the disruptive effects of high wage demands. For the present steel contract is coming up soon for possible reopening by labor.

The union leaders of the national level are said to be hesitant to ask for wage increases now, but rumblings are heard among the local leaders who have political ambitions inside the unions.

The administration could do a constructive job of education at these levels and give the steel industry a chance to recover before it is faced with more wage increases.

Shadowy Figure

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Ever since President Kennedy took office his secretary of state, Dean Rusk, has been an almost shadowy figure. Kennedy casts the shadow. Rusk walks in it. Kennedy makes the pronouncements Rusk echoes them.

It's startling when his State Department—meaning Rusk — does something he says Kennedy didn't know about and, to boot, winds up in effect apologizing for it. This just happened with Canada.

Rusk took the responsibility for the embarrassment. If Kennedy took the responsibility it would be twice as embarrassing, and harder to explain.

Because so little is known of Rusk's behind-the-scenes role in making foreign policy — or how much Kennedy listens to him—it would be unfair to say he is a negative secretary or the opposite.

It can be said that his public statements, either on television or in news conferences, are usually dull and uninspired. Some newsmen have gone to sleep listening to them. Try concentrating on his words some time if you're watching television.

The dullness is in his accumulated generalities or his repetitions of what is already known about the administration's position on some phase of foreign policy or on some American policy position established long before Kennedy.

Some typical examples of Rusk in action:

It is important to continue talks with the Soviets about Berlin "to see if we can't find some way to manage that problem without a crisis." When he said that last November it was already old stuff.

In short, when Rusk rubs two sticks together he doesn't make a fire.

Since Kennedy promised to be a take-charge president, and dominates his entire administration anyway, it's no surprise that Rusk has been in the background, looking more like a foreign policy technician than a creator.

But Kennedy would have had an inducement anyway to boss the show after watching President Eisenhower for years get criticized for letting his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, a very self-asserting man, dominate foreign policy.

There was no middleman between Eisenhower and Dulles, no middleman to make life a little more difficult for the secretary or even frustrating him. Whether Rusk has to contend with one isn't clear.

McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean, is Kennedy's highly trusted special assistant on national security affairs. It can't be said precisely how much part he has in making foreign policy or whether Kennedy listens to him more than to Rusk.

Last week the State Department publicly criticized the Canadian government of Prime Minister Diefenbaker for not doing enough to defend North America. This country wants Canada to put nuclear tips on Canada's main weapons.

Diefenbaker bawled out Americans for interfering in Canadians' business. Rusk apologized. He said no offense was meant. This was odd and can be looked at from a couple of directions:

1. That the State Department fumbled in the use of language although it had plenty of time to figure out the effect of each word it used and what the Canadian reaction might be.

2. Or, Rusk was so anxious to get the Canadians moving that he was willing to risk Diefenbaker's wrath, since he could always explain his intention was good if the wording wasn't.

Rusk got action but it's too soon to say he'll get the result he sought.

No 'Door Dunning' For Hancock Taxes

Tax collectors from the office of Hancock County Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny will not be knocking on doors of county residents this month as in the past.

The sheriff said the staff in his tax office is shorthanded and second - half property taxes for 1962 will be collected by mail or at the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

In past years, the sheriff dispatched field deputies throughout the county to collect taxes during February when payment is accompanied by a discount for promptness.

The flat rate is collected in March, and interest is charged when taxes are paid in April. Taxpayers mailing payments will be sent receipts promptly, the sheriff said.

At 2 Weirton Banks

Hancock Officials To Buy Bonds To Insure Deposits

Hancock County commissioners Monday voted to purchase two $750,000 federal surety bonds from two banks in Weirton to insure deposits of county money as prescribed in the state code.

Atty. William J. Moore of Weirton, negotiating the purchases for the county, explained that the Bank of Weirton and the People's Bank of Weirton have agreed to participate.

The county presently owns two $200,000 surety bonds, one from each bank, and the cost is $100 a month. The two additional bonds will increase the county's total in surety bonds to $1,900,000.

The banks do not pay interest on county deposits, but collect interest from the federal surety bonds, Atty. Moore told commissioners at their meeting in the Courthouse.

The bonds can be obtained in a week if application is made immediately, and there will be no additional cost to the county for the remainder of the fiscal year.

In other business, commissioners heard reports on revisions in county operations from Norman Ferrari, director of Civil Defense and active in county legal affairs.

Ferrari said commissioners have been approached by a group desiring to sublease former federal property at Dam 8 near Newell, now owned by the county. Ferrari also cited the need for repairs and partitions in the County Health Department, pointing out a new dental laboratory may be installed to meet certain state standards, thereby helping the county to become eligible for federal funds.

Commissioners agreed to pay grave diggers working in county-operated cemeteries $1.25 for closing graves. The general fee for opening graves is $10. The office of the Circuit Court clerk was ordered cleaned at a cost of $128.

Commissioners asked that a representative of the P. N. Spanos Co. of Wheeling meet with them Friday night to discuss removal of dust and dirt that accumulated inside the Courthouse during the firm's sandblasting project in December.

Four Grant District taxpayers appeared to discuss new property tax assessments, and were asked to return Wednesday night at 6.

Commissioners are sitting as a Board of Equalization and Review this week from 7 to 9 p. m. to hear any complaints of property owners on new tax assessments prepared by Assessor Anthony Leon.

Crew Repairs Water Break

A break in a 4-inch water main serving all residents in the Nevada St. area was repaired early this morning by a Wellsville water department crew that worked over 10 consecutive hours in freezing temperatures.

Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare said the break in Crystal Alley was discovered Monday afternoon about 3.

The line serves all the homes across the 18th St. crossing between 16th and 22nd Sts.

The ground was frozen solid to a depth of about 22 inches and it was necessary to rent an air compressor and jack hammer to excavate. A backhoe also was utilized.

The line was about 4½ feet deep. It had broken completely around. The crew worked without shutting off the water by reducing the pressure. A sleeve was placed around the break.

Baldsare said none of the homes was without water during the operation.

He praised the crew of six for remaining on the job until it was finished about 1:15 a. m. today. The hole will be filled in today.

At 2 Weirton Banks

Hancock Officials To Buy Bonds To Insure Deposits

Hancock County commissioners Monday voted to purchase two $750,000 federal surety bonds from two banks in Weirton to insure deposits of county money as prescribed in the state code.

Atty. William J. Moore of Weirton, negotiating the purchases for the county, explained that the Bank of Weirton and the People's Bank of Weirton have agreed to participate.

The county presently owns two $200,000 surety bonds, one from each bank, and the cost is $100 a month. The two additional bonds will increase the county's total in surety bonds to $1,900,000.

The banks do not pay interest on county deposits, but collect interest from the federal surety bonds, Atty. Moore told commissioners at their meeting in the Courthouse.

The bonds can be obtained in a week if application is made immediately, and there will be no additional cost to the county for the remainder of the fiscal year.

In other business, commissioners heard reports on revisions in county operations from Norman Ferrari, director of Civil Defense and active in county legal affairs.

Commissioners asked that a representative of the P. N. Spanos Co. of Wheeling meet with them Friday night to discuss removal of dust and dirt that accumulated inside the Courthouse during the firm's sandblasting project in December.

Four Grant District taxpayers appeared to discuss new property tax assessments, and were asked to return Wednesday night at 6.

Commissioners are sitting as a Board of Equalization and Review this week from 7 to 9 p. m. to hear any complaints of property owners on new tax assessments prepared by Assessor Anthony Leon.

City's 8,441 Voters Total Is Up By 333

East Liverpool now has 8,441 registered voters, an increase of 333 since Jan. 1, the County Election Board said today.

The increase includes eight new registrants and 325 who reinstated their registration by returning postal cards to the board's office on W. 6th St. The deadline for returning the cards was Saturday.

The deadline to qualify for the May 7 primaries is March 27.

The city started the year with 8,108 qualified voters after the board removed 2,044 names from its rolls for failing to vote within the last two years. An additional 71 registrations were canceled because of death or moving outside the city, the only subdivision where registration is required.

The board early this year notified the 2,044 voters that their registration lapsed and included postal cards by which the registration could be reinstated by mail.

The return of 325 is better than the 10 per cent return normally received, the board said.

The 1,719 voters whose registration has been canceled now must visit the board's office to re-register, the board said.

$60,000 Fund Provided For City Expense

To provide operating funds pending receipt of the first real estate tax settlement in the spring, Council approved legislation Monday night transferring $60,000 to the general fund from income tax receipts.

The action was taken because tax disbursements from County Auditor Kenneth Bell's office in Lisbon are expected to be delayed as a result of a recent reappraisal program.

Tax statements are expected to be mailed in late February and the city does not expect to receive its first share of the collections until April 1, or possibly May 1.

Four other items were provided in the amended appropriation ordinance.

The other major allocation is an $8,000 fund for the water department to allow continuation of a reservoir repair program launched last year.

In a companion measure, Council authorized the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water system, to advertise for bids on 200 tons of a sand and cement compound to be used in the repair.

The appropriation also provided: $500 for tuition and expenses of Lt. William E. McDaniel in attending a $15-week police school at Western Reserve University in Cleveland; $1,000 for replacement of special emergency clothing for firemen, and $396 to pay the final costs in connection with a bond issue for the purchase of the Ceramic Theater lot, converted to metered parking.

Councilman Frank Duffy questioned Councilman George Willshaw, finance committee chairman, about the item of expense for the bond issue. Willshaw said the appropriation represented costs, including legal advertising, in connection with sale of bonds.

Referring to the $1,000 fire department appropriation, Duffy said: "As I said before, where are we going to stop? Are we going to give them everything they want?"

He had questioned the need for the fire department appropriation at the Jan. 21 meeting.

However, Duffy voted for enactment of the ordinance.

"I'll have to vote for it because of the other things listed in the ordinance," he said.

Snack Tray Helps Control Over-Eating

The habit of overeating in many instances stems from a vague dissatisfaction with life. The homemaker in today's story, aware of her pattern reaction, wants to change.

Ida Jean Kain

"I am in the fat - since - adolescent group. I try and try to lose a few pounds. . .only to gain them back. When things disturb me I immediately seek solace in food.

"Our daughter is to be married in the early summer and I want to look nice at her wedding. I weigh 165 pounds and I'm only 5 feet 2, very short waisted, with big hips and heavy legs and thighs.

"My worst temptation comes around 4 in the afternoon when the family begins to come home. From then on until bedtime I want to eat. I lose weight so slowly and regain so quickly. Dear friend of overweights, please map out a program to help me."

LET'S START with late day eating. Until 4 you are fully occupied. When the family return you want to relax and eating is a part of the pattern. You cannot jettison the habit "just like that". Give thought to the pattern. Reason through the situation and you gain insight. Talk with a good medical man. The doctor can help you in many ways.

All right, it's 4:00; and time to ease up. Have a sociable cup of tea and a snack. The snack should be protein, not a sweet. You could have a three-quarter ounce wedge of cheese. Later, a glass of tomato juice will fill the bill. Nothing more until dinner.

Ah, dinner. You are the cook, so plan some foods which you can eat without fear of fat — lean meat, quickly cooked vegetables, a crisp salad, a hot beverage and dieter's pudding. Eat slowly, savor each morsel. Ask the family to cooperate and take turns clearing the table and putting food away.

Your recognize your real problem is in turning to food when things disturb you. Give forethought to the way you want to react. Get a clear picture in your mind — pre-picturing can influence your actions.

The willingness to make advance decisions is a mature way to deal with problems. Bring your mind to bear on your goal each night as you are falling asleep. By thinking and picturing constructively, you harness your will to a goal.

To control late day eating, you can make yourself a snack tray. On this put the foods you can allow yourself from 4 on. . .perhaps an apple, crisp celery and carrot sticks, a three - quarter ounce wedge of cheese, tea bags, non-nutritive sweetener, non-nutritive soft drinks.

College Expenses Tax Deductible Under Bow's Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — College expenses up to $1,000 a year would be made deductible for income tax purposes under a bill proposed today by Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio.

"My bill would lift a tremendous burden from young people who are attempting to support themselves while studying," Bow said in a statement.

"It would mean the difference between success and failure for parents of modest means who wish to send their children to college."

Bow's measure would make these items tax deductible: tuition; laboratory, library, field study and other required fees; textbooks, and the amount the student's "reasonable living expenses" would exceed his living expenses at home.

The amount of scholarships or veterans' benefits would be subtracted from the maximum allowable tax deduction.

The Canton congressman said in addition to helping students finance their own education and parents who pay their children's college expenses, the bill would "encourage thousands of people in the higher income brackets to give assistance to deserving but needy youngsters."

City's 8,441 Voters Total Is Up By 333

East Liverpool now has 8,441 registered voters, an increase of 333 since Jan. 1, the County Election Board said today.

The increase includes eight new registrants and 325 who reinstated their registration by returning postal cards to the board's office on W. 6th St. The deadline for returning the cards was Saturday.

The deadline to qualify for the May 7 primaries is March 27.

The city started the year with 8,108 qualified voters after the board removed 2,044 names from its rolls for failing to vote within the last two years. An additional 71 registrations were canceled because of death or moving outside the city, the only subdivision where registration is required.

The board early this year notified the 2,044 voters that their registration lapsed and included postal cards by which the registration could be reinstated by mail.

The return of 325 is better than the 10 per cent return normally received, the board said.

The 1,719 voters whose registration has been canceled now must visit the board's office to re-register, the board said.

$60,000 Fund Provided For City Expense

To provide operating funds pending receipt of the first real estate tax settlement in the spring, Council approved legislation Monday night transferring $60,000 to the general fund from income tax receipts.

The action was taken because tax disbursements from County Auditor Kenneth Bell's office in Lisbon are expected to be delayed as a result of a recent reappraisal program.

Tax statements are expected to be mailed in late February and the city does not expect to receive its first share of the collections until April 1, or possibly May 1.

Four other items were provided in the amended appropriation ordinance.

The other major allocation is an $8,000 fund for the water department to allow continuation of a reservoir repair program launched last year.

In a companion measure, Council authorized the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water system, to advertise for bids on 200 tons of a sand and cement compound to be used in the repair.

The appropriation also provided: $500 for tuition and expenses of Lt. William E. McDaniel in attending a $15-week police school at Western Reserve University in Cleveland; $1,000 for replacement of special emergency clothing for firemen, and $396 to pay the final costs in connection with a bond issue for the purchase of the Ceramic Theater lot, converted to metered parking.

Councilman Frank Duffy questioned Councilman George Willshaw, finance committee chairman, about the item of expense for the bond issue. Willshaw said the appropriation represented costs, including legal advertising, in connection with sale of bonds.

Referring to the $1,000 fire department appropriation, Duffy said: "As I said before, where are we going to stop? Are we going to give them everything they want?"

He had questioned the need for the fire department appropriation at the Jan. 21 meeting.

However, Duffy voted for enactment of the ordinance.

"I'll have to vote for it because of the other things listed in the ordinance," he said.

Council Shuts Rogers Area Trash Dump

ROGERS — Indefinite closing of the Rogers dump near the southeast area of the community was ordered by Council Monday night because of unauthorized use by non-residents.

Operating hours and a control system will be planned for the dump when it is reopened after a clearing project. At present two collection contractors are serving the town and using their own dumps.

It was announced an additional traffic signal will be installed on Route 7 at Route 154 and crosswalks marked when weather permits, probably in March or April.

At the suggestion of Councilman Glenn Rhodes, Council authorized Mrs. Maine Hall, clerk, to send letters to State Rep. Clarence Wetzel and Rep. Wayne Hays of the 18th Congressional District, urging support for a proposed Beaver Creek State Park expansion.

Bills totaling $607 were paid, and a property and liability insurance police for the Community Hall was renewed with the Blankenship Insurance Co.

Two "no parking" and "men working" signs were ordered purchased at the request of Albert Starkey, street foreman.

Mayor Robert McCreary said Council will meet in special session Feb. 18 to discuss renewal of the firemen's lease on the Community Hall and a proposed remodeling of the northeast corner of the building for a kitchen.

Councilmen Wallace Swaney and George Long were absent.

ficials through the "advice-and-consent" process in the Senate.

Until the adoption of a constitutional amendment by a vote of the people in late 1961, the Senate Rules Committee always received—and could bottle up—any appointment by a governor. If an appointment was not confirmed by the end of a legislative session, the appointment died.

The constitutional change altered that. Now, an appointee is considered confirmed unless he is turned down by a vote of the full Senate.

Under the system the Republican majority now is using, as soon as an appointment is submitted to the Senate for its "advice and consent," a vote is taken immediately.

Senate Democrats objected on grounds the new rule leaves them absolutely in the dark as to what appointments are to be considered on a given day. Democrats have members on the Rules Committee and, under the old system, knew what confirmation proposals were coming up.

"This is highly irregular," asserted Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas. "At least, we ought to have an appointee's background in order to have some basis for judgment in regard to his qualifications."

Under the new system, the Senate Monday approved these appointments by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes:

Sargus Reintroduces Bill On Junk Yards

COLUMBUS — Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, reintroduced in the Ohio Senate Monday night a bill to require licensing and strict regulation of junk yards outside of municipalities.

The bill would require junk dealers to obtain a $100 license from the county auditor, renewable annually for $25. Sargus said the license fees would go into the county general fund.

A dealer could not obtain a license if his junk yard were within 1,000 feet of a state or county road or within 300 feet of a township road, unless it were naturally obscured or properly fenced. Fences could not be used for advertising, Sargus said.

Dealers failing to comply with the law would be subject to a fine of up to $1,000, Sargus said.

"There can be no real disagreement," he said, "that to permit an orderly development of land outside of the corporate limits, to retain and add to existing property values and to preserve the scenic and aesthetic character of the countryside, this spreading, sprawling and unsightly type of establishment must become subject to regulation."

Sargus introduced the same bill late in the 104th General Assembly but it died in committee.

2 Of Faculty To Quit West Beaver Posts

The resignations of two elementary teachers and the appointment of an attendance officer were approved at the meeting of the Western Beaver County Board of Education Monday night at the Fairview School.

The board also officially adopted the bus schedule presented by the transportation committee.

It authorized the signing of an application with Ohioville Borough Council to provide water for Fairview School.

The board granted the Beaver County School Administrators Association permission to hold the annual county in-service training day Oct. 14 in Western Beaver schools.

Cub Pack 669 was authorized to meet the last Friday of each month in the Snyder School cafeteria - auditorium and the Girl Scouts to hold a Juliette Lowe tea March 15 in the high school cafeteria - auditorium.

Boys in fifth through eighth grades were given permission to participate in a basketball Hot Stove League under the direction of George Hromanik and Richard Shingler.

The board accepted the bid of $340 from Blair E. Ferguson to transport athletic teams to out-of-town games.

It granted the Senior Earth and Space Science Club permission to visit Buhl Planetarium in Pittsburgh on March 1.

2 At Newell To Seek Action On Tax Plans

Two Newell area residents are to visit Charleston Thursday, hoping to be given an opportunity to speak before the State Legislature opposing state taxes on food and medicine.

William Brewer, president, and Ernest Phillips, financial secretary, of Local 647 of International Brick and Clayworkers Union, also plan to speak with Miss Callie Tsapis, member of the House of Delegates from Hancock County, and State Sen. William Tompos of Weirton.

They are opposing as officers of the local the lifting of a deadline on the extension of the taxes on food and medicine by the State Legislature. The tax was enacted on an emergency basis and has been extended. Last week, the Legislature removed the deadline of the extension, apparently eying a permanent role for it in raising state revenue.

District Youth Fined And Jailed For Theft

George Edward Bailey, 18, of Dixonville, charged with the theft of food from the Goddard Bakers in Chester, was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the Hancock County Jail Monday night by Squire Eugene Allison.

Bailey and a 17-year-old city youth were apprehended by East Liverpool police in Church Alley Sunday morning, carrying two large cans filled with doughnuts, bread and rolls.

Bailey pleaded guilty to the charge of petit larceny, and was committed to the jail for an additional 10 days when unable to pay for the fine.

Fayette, Logan and McDowell counties would lose a delegate each.

The House put in the extra delegates for Mercer and Ohio yesterday under an amendment by Del. Jack R. Nuzum, D-Randolph. He led the small counties' successful fight against reviving delegate districts, which the state has not had since 1901.

One amendment still awaited action before the passage vote today, but it did not affect the apportionment provisions. It was an amendment by Watson, the House Redistricting chairman, to write into the bill a statement of legislative intent, with an eye to future court proceedings.

It was announced County Commissioner James Boyd and George Bloomgren, engineer, will be asked to attend the next meeting March 4 at Glenmoor.

Duffy and Emil Dominick will serve as a committee to attend a meeting of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation of East Liverpool Area later this month.

Aquino will bid for the treasurer post which Milnes must vacate. Masters, who served three years as assistant district attorney, will seek the post of district attorney.

The incumbent group said that Aquino was chosen "because of many requests from committee members and party leaders in the Ambridge-Aliquippa area" and Masters "because of widespread response" to his recent announcement that he would seek the district attorney post being vacated by incumbent Richard P. Steward.

In another decision, the group endorsed the candidacy of Orphans Court Judge Frank E. Reed for re-election. "This came about," Corak said, "when many qualified attorneys, including prominent Democrats, voiced satisfaction with his bid."

The judgeship is for 10 years and the other terms for four years.

In submitting his report to Highway Director P. E. Masheter, Division Deputy Director Earl W. Nelson said the value of these contracts was $22,237,323 and that in spite of sub - zero weather and heavy snows during January, considerable progress had been made on many of the jobs.

In Columbiana County, construction remains ahead of schedule with 45 per cent completion of the 2.7-mile U. S. Route 30 relocation from East Liverpool to Route 170 near Calcutta.

About 18 per cent completion is shown in the report for a 0.2-mile relocation on Route 172 east of New Garden. This calls for replacement of an existing narrow bridge.

Prince Abdulla was named commander of the National Guard, Prince Mashal becomes governor of the Mecca region and Prince Salman got the governorship of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia's capital. King Saud's sons had held the posts.

Wife Of Wealthy Sportsman Dies In Plane Crash

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—The artist wife of millionaire sportsman Peter A. B. Widener died in a crash after their private plane made a low pass over the airport where Widener was waiting for her.

Lt. Col. Dick Lockman, head of the Civil Air Patrol at Orlando, said Staab flew directly over the field at 400 feet on one occasion.

"Mr. Widener saw the plane," Lockman said. "He (Staab) could have been setting up a landing pattern—going downwind and then coming back southeast."

Widener and the former Patricia Massey, married in 1959, had one son, Joseph, 2. Mrs. Widener's daughter by a previous marriage, Genevieve (Viv) Trevander, 11, lives in Palm Beach. Widener has two sons by a previous marriage.

State Set To Call More Witnesses In Stees' Trial

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The state was expected to call more witnesses today in the first - degree murder trial of Gene Isaac Stees.

Stees, 30, a balding former Ohio University professor, is charged in the slaying of his pregnant wife, Helen, Oct. 20.

The victim's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Miles Taber of Ashland, were among the 10 witnesses who testified at Monday's proceedings.

The Rev. Mr. Taber told the court that his daughter left his home on the day she was murdered for a meeting with Stees. He said she had hoped to attempt a reconciliation following domestic difficulties.

"We feared for her welfare when she didn't return," he testified.

The Rev. Mr. Taber said he once had witnessed a verbal quarrel between his daughter and Stees and that is why he was so concerned.

Dr. Edward R. Annis, president-elect of the American Medical Association, says American doctors would react more violently against government control of their profession than their Canadian counterparts did last year.

Most of the estimated 700 physicians in Saskatchewan Province went on strike July 1 for 23 days in protest against the provincial government's new compulsory medical plan.

At a Nashville, Tenn., news conference, Annis called the Saskatchewan incident peacetime conscription. The Miami, Fla., surgeon said that the provincial government "locked the doctors out of the practice of private medicine."

Crown Prince Faisal, prime minister of Saudi Arabia, has installed three of his brothers in key posts, apparently another move to bring the oil-rich desert kingdom firmly under his control.

The appointments, announced by Mecca radio and heard in Damascus, Syria, appeared to weaken the position of Faisal's brother, King Saud, who has been under medical treatment in Switzerland.

Prince Abdulla was named commander of the National Guard, Prince Mashal becomes governor of the Mecca region and Prince Salman got the governorship of Riyadh, Saudi Arabia's capital. King Saud's sons had held the posts.

Wife Of Wealthy Sportsman Dies In Plane Crash

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—The artist wife of millionaire sportsman Peter A. B. Widener died in a crash after their private plane made a low pass over the airport where Widener was waiting for her.

In addition to Patricia Widener, 35, the crash killed the Widener family pilot, Robert G. Staab, 40, Ocala.

The plane flew over the airport Sunday night, then disappeared during an apparent attempt to return to this central Florida town in the murky darkness.

Lt. Col. Dick Lockman, head of the Civil Air Patrol at Orlando, said Staab flew directly over the field at 400 feet on one occasion.

"Mr. Widener saw the plane," Lockman said. "He (Staab) could have been setting up a landing pattern—going downwind and then coming back southeast."

Widener and the former Patricia Massey, married in 1959, had one son, Joseph, 2. Mrs. Widener's daughter by a previous marriage, Genevieve (Viv) Trevander, 11, lives in Palm Beach. Widener has two sons by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Widener was known for her art work and held several exhibitions. The Wideners maintained homes in Palm Beach and at Ocala, where Widener has a 1,000-acre thoroughbred farm.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harvey I. Friedman, president of Bakery Workers Local 19 here, has been arrested on a federal perjury indictment.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My boy friend was over last night and we were sitting on the sofa watching TV. He accidentally brushed my head with his arm and my earring fell off. It rolled under the piano which was a few feet away.

I asked him to please move the piano and get my earring. He said, "It's less dangerous, physically, for a woman to move a piano than for a man." He refused to budge.

For your information, Ann, he is a 180-pound construction worker and I happen to know he handles a sledgehammer that weighs almost as much as our piano. I told him I didn't think his attitude was very gentlemanly. He claims any doctor will tell you that women have stronger constitutions than men and they live longer. He said I should move the piano myself.

What do you have to say about this, Ann Landers?—MYRTLE.

Dear Myrtle: Have you ever seen a lady piano mover?

Reluctant Sailor

Dear Ann: I'm in the Navy, aboard a carrier. I've never asked for advice through the mails before and I'm surprised that I'm doing it now, but I need help.

My girl is driving me crazy. She wants to get married when I get my next shore leave. I'm 21 and have one year and eight months of service ahead of me. I want to wait until I can assume the financial responsibilities of a husband.

The girl's parents are in favor of a wedding now. They say the separations wouldn't be so hard on her if we were married. I say they'd be worse. My parents think I should wait but they are willing to go along with anything I decide.

I love this girl and I don't want to lose her. Her last letter said, "Now or never." Help me, please.—NO COMPASS.

Dear No Compass: Stick to your battle station, Sailor. If the girl really loves you she'll wait. If she doesn't want to wait then you haven't lost a great deal.

Your reasoning is mature and sound. Hers is juvenile.

Sacrificial Wife

Dear Ann: We were married in 1933. Times were tough and we had to watch every penny. We weathered the storm, had four nice children and things got better. Then the war came and my husband's business boomed.

Three of our children are through college and doing nicely. Our youngest son will be graduated in June. My husband refuses to build me a nice home or even spend the money necessary to remodel this one. He says he wants to leave our children well fixed when he dies and that he and I don't "need anything."

I feel I've earned a few comforts and that he shouldn't be so concerned with leaving a large inheritance. We both want your thinking on this. He says you are a practical woman and will side with him.—PLENTY TIRED.

Dear Tired: The poor guy has clenched his fist so long he's unable to relax and enjoy the fruits of his labors.

I say you have earned a new house. And if you want one, he should be happy to buy you one. As for leaving the children a large inheritance, the finest legacy a father can leave his children is independence and the initiative to make it on their own.

Confidentially

TO BREAD UPON THE WATERS: I'd say you're getting sandwiches. Things turned out a great deal better than you had a right to expect. Be grateful.

TO IN LOVE WITH HULA HANDS: Don't look now, but I think she has her hula hands in your pocket. For a two-time loser you are not very akaami.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Did you ever run out of cocoa and have no chocolate for your children's milk? Use chocolate pudding! Add two teaspoons in a glass and then add your milk. It's delicious.

A READER.

DEAR FOLKS: It just so happens that this afternoon we were out of cocoa. I did open a box of chocolate pudding — not the instand type.

I put the pudding in the bottom of a glass, added a dash of water, and stirred it into a thick paste. Then I filled the glass with milk. My daughter thinks it's absolutely grand.

This is wonderful hot, too. Just heat your milk and pour a dab of it into the bottom of the cup first, stir into a thick paste, and finish filling up the cup with the hot milk.

This mother is a doll!

Man Heard From

DEAR HELOISE: As the result of losing a needle which I had stuck in the hole of a spool of thread, I took an inch of cellophane tape and stuck it over the hole of the spool. Then I stuck the needle through the tape. It's always there! The stickiness of the tape holds the needle in place.

JOHN MADISON.

DEAR HELOISE: If you need a nice durable, easy to clean, non-slip tablecloth — try plastic upholstery. Sure is wonderful.

This upholstery comes in 64-inch widths and you can purchase whatever length you wish. It comes in pretty patterns, too. It's especially good when there are little children around the house, for there always seems to be at least one spill at every meal. Sure easy to wipe off with a sponge.

MARJAY.

DEAR HELOISE: Potatoes will mash without flying out of the bowl if you will cut them in small pieces before cooking!

If you have trouble with liquids splashing from your electric mixer . . . whipping things . . . throw a clean dishtowel over the entire mixed! Your walls or drainboard won't get spattered!

Hasty Pudding

DEAR HELOISE: When making boxed puddings that require cooking . . . rather than stand over a hot stove for umpteen minutes, stirring and stirring . . . I mix the dry pudding mix with one egg and set it aside.

Put the milk in a heavy, heavy pan on the stove. When the milk almost reaches the boiling point, turn down the heat and pour the pudding mixture into the milk, stirring briskly.

Result? Smooth pudding in about 30 seconds.

I use a rubber scraper for the entire operation and I feel it works better than a spoon and affords a good way to scrape out the bowl in which the pudding mix has been cooked. None is wasted.

I vary vanilla puddings by adding sliced bananas, drained canned pineapple or any type of cut up chocolate candy bar after the pudding has cooled a bit. If color is wanted in any pudding, I add halved maraschino cherries . . . . either in the pudding or on top of it.

MRS. D.A.R.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my homemade cookies nice and fresh by putting a slice of fresh bread in the cookie jar with them. I change the bread about every other day.

Cincy's 2nd Win Over Drake More Convincing, 71-60

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's streaking Bearcats have posted another triumph in their drive to establish themselves as one of college basketball's all-time top teams, settling a minor score in the bargain.

Fired by the shooting of Ron Bonham and showing their customary tenacious defense, the Bearcats recorded a 71-60 victory Monday night over the Drake team that threw a scare into them last week. Drake took the nation's No. 1 club into overtime Thursday night before falling 65-60.

Cincinnati now is 18-0 this season and has won 36 straight over-all for the third longest victory string ever. San Francisco holds the record of 60 in a row in 1954-56 and North Carolina won 37 straight in 1957-58. Cincy will have a shot at tying North Carolina's total this Saturday against Bradley.

In Monday night's other headline attractions—fourth-ranked Illinois strengthened its Big Ten lead by outlasting Indiana 104-101 in a free-wheeling affair; Oklahoma State toppled seventh-ranked Colorado 52-49 and threw the Big Eight race wide open; Mississippi State pushed into a first-place tie in the Southeastern Conference by whipping Tulane 91-73; fifth-ranked Arizona State ran over New Mexico State 89-62; and Georgia Tech, No. 6, needed some clutch work by a pair of reserves to squeeze by William and Mary 50-49.

Cincinnati took a while to assume command in their Missouri Valley match at Drake, trailing by as much as five points in the first half. But with Bonham pumping in 15 points in a 10-minute span before intermission the Bearcats left the floor with a two-point edge. Cincinnati limited the Bulldogs to 22 points in the second half and held them scoreless the final three minutes.

Bonham finished with 31 points and, to prove he is no slouch defensively, did a brilliant job on Drake sophomore Gene West, who had scored 21 against Bonham in the squeaker last Thursday night. West got only 2 Monday night.

Purdue got its first victory in eight Big Ten starts, downing Michigan State 103-81. Davidson cashed in on free throws for a 50-49 Southern Conference decision over The Citadel. National scoring leader Nick Werkman collected 31 points as Seton Hall rapped Upsala 94-71.

Other scores: Utah State 85; Montana 67; Wisconsin 81; Michigan 78; Vanderbilt 74, Alabama 73, overtime; Florida 84, Tennessee 73; Mississippi 60, Louisiana State 48; Maryland 73, Georgetown 72; Texas Western 65, Arizona 50; North Texas State 85, Hardin-Simmons 75.

Besides Cincinnati, only two other Ohio collegiate teams were in action Monday night.

Wittenberg's Tigers, the No. 1 small college team in the latest Associated Press poll, ran into a tough Central State team at Wilberforce but managed to emerge with a 62-60 victory.

Al Thrasher and Bill Fisher, with 29 and 28 respectively, scored all but five of Wittenberg's points. Ken Wilburn with 19 was the leading pointmaker for the losers.

Elsewhere, Youngstown hit a torrid 63 per cent of its shots as the Penguins defeated Muskingum 86-61 on the winners' home floor. Ron Allen led Youngstown scorers with 22 points as the Penguins picked up their 11th win against six defeats. Muskingum now has won seven and lost eight. Jim Burson and Tom Stein were high point men for the visitors from New Concord, each with 16.

Nicklaus 8-Stroke Winner

Fires 6 Under For $9,000 At Palm Springs

By JIM BACON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, golf's million-dollar baby, is $9,000 richer Tuesday, an amazing 8-stroke winner over Gary Player in an 18-hole playoff for the Palm Springs Golf Classic championship.

Ironically, Nicklaus disclosed Monday that he almost canceled playing in the classic because of bursitis in his hip.

Nicklaus shot a 34-31—65, six-under-par, over the Indian Wells course. He sank 35-foot putts for a birdie 3 on the 17th and for an eagle 3 on the 18th.

"Some weeks you only have to work four days for $9,000," said the smiling 23-year-old National Open champion. "This week I had to work six."

Player ran into disaster in the second nine. After finishing the first nine two strokes behind while shooting even par, Player bogeyed the 10th. He 3-putted from 25 feet, missing an 18-incher in the process.

That was nothing compared with what hit him on 12, where Player saw more palm tree trunks than a camel looking for shade. His tee shot landed behind one tree.

Three strokes behind, Player decided to gamble and took a vicious cut at the ball. It landed smack in back of another palm tree. Still gambling, Player hit the next shot left-handed. The ball hit another palm tree and bounced into a trap.

When the duffer's nightmare finally ended, Player had shot a triple bogey 7—and Nicklaus was six strokes ahead.

On the par 3 13th Nicklaus shot a birdie two and Player was in bogeysville again with a 4.

Player, one of the game's greats and the year's leading money winner, didn't let his bogey trouble upset him. He finished the last 4 holes with three birdies and a par to wind up with a 36-37-73.

Bonham's Defense Praised By Coach

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Apparently rankled by reports that he was Cincinnati's worst defensive player, scoring-ace Ron Bonham convinced Drake's basketball team Monday night that he can play both ways.

Bonham pumped in 31 points offenisvely to lead the nation's top-ranked team to a 71-60 victory over Drake, but his performance on defense was given equal credit by Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker.

"Bonham really wanted to show that he can play both offense and defense," Jucker said. "He went to work against Drake and proved he is not weak on defense."

Bonham held his opponent, Drake sophomore Gene West to only two points. Last Thursday West scored 21 against Bonham and led a Drake challenge that forced Cincinnati to go into overtime for a 65-60 victory.

After that game, Drake Coach Maurice John said his strategy was built on what he called Bonham's defensive weakness. Drake tried the same game plan Monday night but Bonham clung to West all over the court and limited him to only five shots.

Jucker said, "We were working harder this time against Drake. Bonham's 19 points in the first half really helped keep us in there and then our defense held Drake to only 22 points in the second half."

'Fight Game Needs Clay,' Cassius Tells Committee

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Cassius Clay, the loquacious heavyweight with a penchant for poetic predictions, says he knows just what boxing needs to lift it out of the doldrums—a fellow named Clay.

Clay stole the spotlight at a public hearing on whether professional boxing should be abolished in New York State—and this was going some because he was in fast company.

Clay, who likes to name the round-in-rhyme—when he's going to knock out his opponents, agreed that boxing was waning in popularity—like the birds going south for the winter. But it will make a comeback, he predicted, with Clay leading the way.

None of the witnesses who appeared at Monday's four-hour session spoke against boxing. They talked of its virtues as a physical conditioner and argued that underworld control of the sport had been virtually eliminated in New York State.

Aparicio Signs Pact With Orioles

By The Associated Press

The baseball trade that sent Luis Aparicio from the Chicago White Sox to the Baltimore Orioles last month already is paying off as far as the speedy shortstop is concerned.

There's nothing like a change of uniform and a new pay contract to make a discontented player happy, and Aparicio showed his satisfaction by signing his 1963 contract Monday.

Although terms were not revealed, it was reported that the 29-year-old Venezuelan would receive about $37,500, the same salary he drew from the White Sox last season.

Cincy's 2nd Win Over Drake More Convincing, 71-60

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's streaking Bearcats have posted another triumph in their drive to establish themselves as one of college basketball's all-time top teams, settling a minor score in the bargain.

Fired by the shooting of Ron Bonham and showing their customary tenacious defense, the Bearcats recorded a 71-60 victory Monday night over the Drake team that threw a scare into them last week. Drake took the nation's No. 1 club into overtime Thursday night before falling 65-60.

Cincinnati now is 18-0 this season and has won 36 straight over-all for the third longest victory string ever. San Francisco holds the record of 60 in a row in 1954-56 and North Carolina won 37 straight in 1957-58. Cincy will have a shot at tying North Carolina's total this Saturday against Bradley.

In Monday night's other headline attractions—fourth-ranked Illinois strengthened its Big Ten lead by outlasting Indiana 104-101 in a free-wheeling affair; Oklahoma State toppled seventh-ranked Colorado 52-49 and threw the Big Eight race wide open; Mississippi State pushed into a first-place tie in the Southeastern Conference by whipping Tulane 91-73; fifth-ranked Arizona State ran over New Mexico State 89-62; and Georgia Tech, No. 6, needed some clutch work by a pair of reserves to squeeze by William and Mary 50-49.

Cincinnati took a while to assume command in their Missouri Valley match at Drake, trailing by as much as five points in the first half. But with Bonham pumping in 15 points in a 10-minute span before intermission the Bearcats left the floor with a two-point edge. Cincinnati limited the Bulldogs to 22 points in the second half and held them scoreless the final three minutes.

Bonham finished with 31 points and, to prove he is no slouch defensively, did a brilliant job on Drake sophomore Gene West, who had scored 21 against Bonham in the squeaker last Thursday night. West got only 2 Monday night.

Purdue got its first victory in eight Big Ten starts, downing Michigan State 103-81. Davidson cashed in on free throws for a 50-49 Southern Conference decision over The Citadel. National scoring leader Nick Werkman collected 31 points as Seton Hall rapped Upsala 94-71.

Other scores: Utah State 85; Montana 67; Wisconsin 81; Michigan 78; Vanderbilt 74, Alabama 73, overtime; Florida 84, Tennessee 73; Mississippi 60, Louisiana State 48; Maryland 73, Georgetown 72; Texas Western 65, Arizona 50; North Texas State 85, Hardin-Simmons 75.

Besides Cincinnati, only two other Ohio collegiate teams were in action Monday night.

Wittenberg's Tigers, the No. 1 small college team in the latest Associated Press poll, ran into a tough Central State team at Wilberforce but managed to emerge with a 62-60 victory.

Al Thrasher and Bill Fisher, with 29 and 28 respectively, scored all but five of Wittenberg's points. Ken Wilburn with 19 was the leading pointmaker for the losers.

Elsewhere, Youngstown hit a torrid 63 per cent of its shots as the Penguins defeated Muskingum 86-61 on the winners' home floor. Ron Allen led Youngstown scorers with 22 points as the Penguins picked up their 11th win against six defeats. Muskingum now has won seven and lost eight. Jim Burson and Tom Stein were high point men for the visitors from New Concord, each with 16.

Bonham's Defense Praised By Coach

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Apparently rankled by reports that he was Cincinnati's worst defensive player, scoring-ace Ron Bonham convinced Drake's basketball team Monday night that he can play both ways.

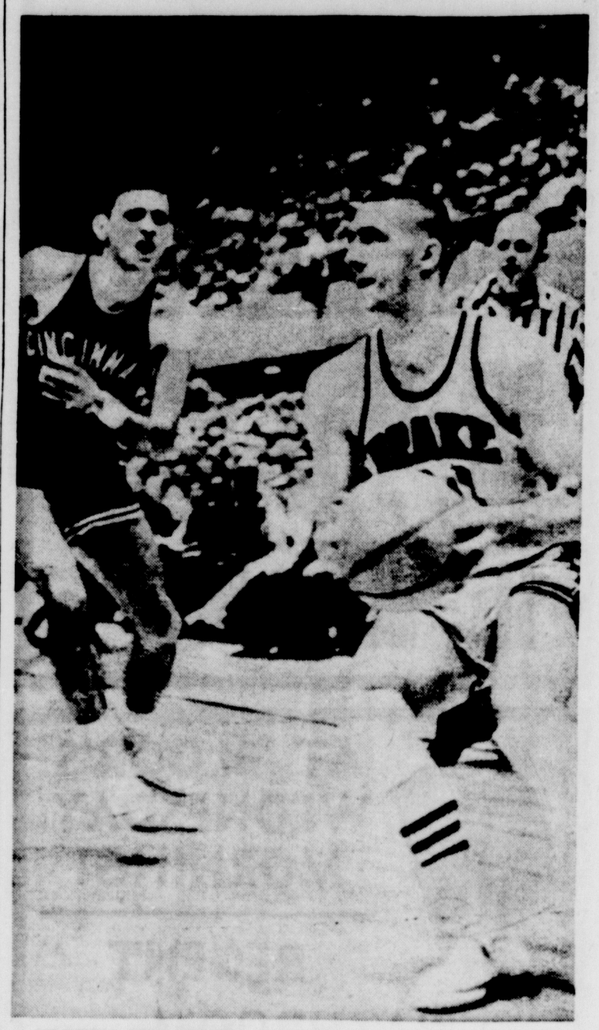
Bonham pumped in 31 points ofenisvely to lead the nation's top-ranked team to a 71-60 victory over Drake, but his performance on defense was given equal credit by Cincinnati Coach Ed Jucker.

"Bonham really wanted to show that he can play both offense and defense," Jucker said. "He went to work against Drake and proved he is not weak on defense."

Bonham held his opponent, Drake sophomore Gene West to only two points. Last Thursday West scored 21 against Bonham and led a Drake challenge that forced Cincinnati to go into overtime for a 65-60 victory.

After that game, Drake Coach Maurice John said his strategy was built on what he called Bonham's defensive weakness. Drake tried the same game plan Monday night but Bonham clung to West all over the court and limited him to only five shots.

Jucker said, "We were working harder this time against Drake. Bonham's 19 points in the first half really helped keep us in there and then our defense held Drake to only 22 points in the second half."



DRAKE'S BILL HAHN (with ball) moves into score as Cincinnati's Larry Shingleton makes his move too late to stop him during action Monday night at Des Moines, Ia. Cincinnati won its 36th straight by stopping Drake, 71-60. (UPI Telephoto)

Nicklaus 8-Stroke Winner

Fires 6 Under For $9,000 At Palm Springs

By JIM BACON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, golf's million-dollar baby, is $9,000 richer Tuesday, an amazing 8-stroke winner over Gary Player in an 18-hole playoff for the Palm Springs Golf Classic championship.

Ironically, Nicklaus disclosed Monday that he almost canceled playing in the classic because of bursitis in his hip.

Nicklaus shot a 34-31—65, six-under-par, over the Indian Wells course. He sank 35-foot putts for a birdie 3 on the 17th and for an eagle 3 on the 18th.

"Some weeks you only have to work four days for $9,000," said the smiling 23-year-old National Open champion. "This week I had to work six."

Player ran into disaster in the second nine. After finishing the first nine two strokes behind while shooting even par, Player bogeyed the 10th. He 3-putted from 25 feet, missing an 18-incher in the process.

That was nothing compared with what hit him on 12, where Player saw more palm tree trunks than a camel looking for shade. His tee shot landed behind one tree.

Three strokes behind, Player decided to gamble and took a vicious cut at the ball. It landed smack in back of another palm tree. Still gambling, Player hit the next shot left-handed. The ball hit another palm tree and bounced into a trap.

When the duffer's nightmare finally ended, Player had shot a triple bogey 7—and Nicklaus was six strokes ahead.

On the par 3 13th Nicklaus shot a birdie two and Player was in bogeysville again with a 4.

Player, one of the game's greats and the year's leading money winner, didn't let his bogey trouble upset him. He finished the last 4 holes with three birdies and a par to wind up with a 36-37-73.

'Fight Game Needs Clay,' Cassius Tells Committee

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Cassius Clay, the loquacious heavyweight with a penchant for poetic predictions, says he knows just what boxing needs to lift it out of the doldrums—a fellow named Clay.

"With Cassius Clay here it will liven up," the irrepressible Bard of boxing told a state legislative committee Monday.

Clay stole the spotlight at a public hearing on whether professional boxing should be abolished in New York State—and this was going some because he was in fast company.

Such ring greats as Carmen Basilio, Henry Armstrong and Billy Graham turned up to plead for the preservation of professional fisticuffs.

Clay, who likes to name the round-in-rhyme—when he's going to knock out his opponents, agreed that boxing was waning in popularity—like the birds going south for the winter. But it will make a comeback, he predicted, with Clay leading the way.

None of the witnesses who appeared at Monday's four-hour session spoke against boxing. They talked of its virtues as a physical conditioner and argued that underworld control of the sport had been virtually eliminated in New York State.

Aparicio Signs Pact With Orioles

By The Associated Press

The baseball trade that sent Luis Aparicio from the Chicago White Sox to the Baltimore Orioles last month already is paying off as far as the speedy shortstop is concerned.

There's nothing like a change of uniform and a new pay contract to make a discontented player happy, and Aparicio showed his satisfaction by signing his 1963 contract Monday.

Although terms were not revealed, it was reported that the 29-year-old Venezuelan would receive about $37,500, the same salary he drew from the White Sox last season.

Luis had been miffed when the White Sox threatened him with a sizable pay slash before the trade.

Middies Retain 'AA' Lead; Two 'A' Teams Deadlocked

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tournament time is creeping up on Ohio's 471 Class AA and 445 Class A high school basketball teams, and the boys are having a merry time tuning up for the big test.

Coach Karl E. Schumacher's Cambridge St. Benedict team did plenty of eye-sharpening last week when it rolled to a 126-20 win over Deavertown — one of the greatest margins, 106 points—in Buckeye history.

Meanwhile, the hot-shot quintets continued their race in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Middletown's seven-time champions continued to rule the Class AA ratings, just as they have all season, but there were challengers aplenty.

Heading the pursuers were Cleveland East Tech, Dayton Chaminade and Columbus East.

For the first time in the poll's history, Class A wound up in a first - place deadlock between Bloomville, the all-season leader, and fast-closing Columbus University. They tied at 165 poll points with York of Sandusky County only 30 points away.

Mansfield (8-4) ended Marion Harding's 12-game winning streak 55-50, the Tygers leading by 15 at one time. Norwalk was victimized for the first time in 12 starts by Tiffin Columbian, 66-62 in an overtime.

Dayton Belmont also fell from the unbeaten list as Dayton Chaminade triumphed 57-47.

Bob Hoyt, 14-year-old Butler freshman who stands 6 - foot - 4, scored 23 of his team's 34 points against North Robinson Colonel Crawford but lost 63-34. Earlier in the week he counted 31. Colonel Crawford, fourth-ranked, is the Johnny Appleseed Conference champ.

VanLue, which hasn't lost a conference game since 1960, has won its fourth straight Hancock County title. And Paint Valley, newcomer to the ratings, clinched its fifth straight Ross County crown last week.

Champion defeated Youngstown Liberty 55-44 for the first time in seven years. Warren Harding's Jim Gardner has 1,101 points for three years and 364 for the current one—just short of famed Larry Imburgia's school mark of 372.

East Liverpool's tallest boy, 6-2 Dean Cline, hit 30 for the third time this year against Wellsville. He's averaging 22. Marietta's All-Ohio Bill Warden, who had missed five games with a twisted knee, injured it again Saturday against Cambridge. The unbeaten Marietta team has a 72-47 scoring edge over 14 victims.

Teays Valley, five down with a half-minute to go, tied Greenview and then scored a lone basket in the last two seconds of the overtime to take it all. Logan Elm's 6-5 Danny Hicks, suffering an injured back, was given a checkup and a go ahead by Ohio State trainer Ernie Biggs.

Lorain St. Mary, a Class A school, has dropped a pair—both to Class AA quintets. The team, with a seven-game winning streak, is sparked by 6-4 senior Bruce Minnich, who has pulled down 234 rebounds in 11 games and scored 204 points.

Massillon defeated Alliance 58-48 last week to take the lead in the Big Eight League. Canton McKinley's Bill Morgan, a 6-7 jump shot artist, was ailing for a couple of weeks and the Bulldogs dropped a pair—but they're beginning to roll. Two of the starters are 6-7, one 6-3, one 6-1 and the other 5-11. No one has topped 60 against them.

Commissioner Sounds Off

More Interest Than Ever In Baseball, Frick Says

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In the wake of professional football's most prosperous season when once again this sports-conscious nation of ours is asking whether baseball has been permitting its winter counterpart to take over as America's national game, comes a voice that proclaims Abner Doubleday's invention to be in its healthiest state.

"Baseball has never been more popular than it is today," said the man who has guided its destiny for the last dozen years. "More people are watching it, both in person and on television, and more youngsters are playing it than ever before."

According to Frick, baseball, since it shed its cloak of timidity 10 years ago and took the big plunge into the fresh waters of expansion, has made great strides moving into an era of prosperity, confidence and popular support the likes of which have never been dreamed.

When Frick became the big boss of baseball, in September of 1951, the game was fraught with dangers and loaded with problems. Declining attendances, shifting populations, minor league unrest, threat of television, strained player-owner relations and congressional probes into the very structure of organized baseball contributed to his problems.

"Our complexities were unlike those the game ever had been confronted with before," said Frick.

"Ten years ago we had 16 clubs in the major leagues with two or three in dire circumstances. Today we have 20 healthy clubs with a system set up for 24 clubs.

"Is baseball losing interest? On the contrary, there is more interest than ever in baseball. Look at the paid attendance figures. The majors drew more than 20 million people last year, more than twice as many as they did 10 years ago.

"There is no telling how many millions watched the games on television. More important to me the fact that there were six million youngsters at ages 10 to 20 playing regularly under supervision."

Now to the burning question whether football is usurping baseball's heretofore unquestioned role as the mother sport in the country.

"I'm not going to become involved in a controversy with football,' said Frick. "We in baseball are very happy about our game and we're not worrying about football. Both are major sports. Each has its place and season.

"It might be wise, though, to bear this one thought in mind. Is it possible for a sport with a season that comprises only 14 games to compete with another whose season extends through six months with games played every single day throughout those six months?"

Four Rookies Signed By Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three pitchers and a catcher—all rookies—have returned their signed contracts to the Cleveland Indians. They will report to the Tribe's spring training camp in Tucson Feb. 21.

They are pitchers Manuel Gazmuri, Casey Cox and Macon Lowe and catcher Milt Swift. They brought to 18 the number of players now under contract for 1963, with 25 still to be signed.

Albie Pearson of the Angels led the American League in runs scored in 1962 with 115.

Top 6 Clubs Hold Spots In Cage Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Headed by Cincinnati, No. 1 for the 10th straight week, the top six teams held their positions today in The Associated Press college basketball poll.

Behind the unbeaten Bearcats came Loyola of Chicago, Duke, Illinois, Arizona State and Georgia Tech, all of them unshaken after a week of solid success.

The last four teams in the order are Colorado, Mississippi State, Wichita and Stanford—the same as a week ago but in scrambled positions. The poll was based on games through Saturday Feb. 2.

Stanford, loser to Washington 49-47, fell from seventh to 10th and was replaced by Colorado, which climbed a notch after beating Oklahoma 77-68. Mississippi State rose a single rung to No. 8 on victories over Southern Mississippi and Louisiana State. Wichita moved up from tenth on a 66-38 decision over Tulsa.

Cincinnati, which won over Drake 65-60 in overtime and St. Louis 70-40 to extend its season's winning string to 17 games and its over-all streak to 35, drew 42 of the 44 first place votes from the AP's special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

With 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Bearcats ran up 438 points for a substantial margin over Loyola, winner of 20 straight games.

Loyola, which crushed Washington of St. Louis 118-58 and Iowa 86-68, got one of the two stray first place nominations. The other went to third-place Duke, winner over South Carolina 88-70 and North Carolina 77-69.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (42)	438
2.	Loyola of Chicago (1)	378
3.	Duke (1)	303
4.	Illinois	291
5.	Arizona State	204
6.	Georgia Tech	203
7.	Colorado	125
8.	Mississippi State	98
9.	Wichita	66
10.	Stanford	46

Russell Set To Take Lead In Rebounds

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Bill Russell didn't make it last week, but it's just a question of time until the defensive star of the champion Boston Celtics replaces the veteran Dolph Schayes of Syracuse as the all-time rebound leader in the National Basketball Association.

And with the Celtics scheduled to play five games this week, against Cincinnati, Syracuse, San Francisco and New York twice, Russell may turn the trick by next Sunday.

Official league statistics, released today, show Russell with a career total of 10,933 rebounds compared to 10,981 for Schayes, a 15-year veteran in the pro circuit.

Russell, now in his seventh NBA season, is second to Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-1 San Francisco star, in rebounds for the year to date however. Chamberlain has 1,334 and Russell 1,277.

Warriors Shade Zephyrs, Within One Of 3rd Spot

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Warriors, struggling all season to try to gain the National Basketball Association playoffs, are back within one-half game of third place in the Western Division, thanks to their seldom-used magic victory formula.

The Warriors moved south about 50 miles to San Jose Monday night and edged the Chicago Zephyrs 109-107. In their only previous "home" road game, the Warriors whipped Detroit at Bakersfield, Calif.

It's the only consistent manner in which the Warriors have won this season. Two more such games are scheduled.

The Los Angeles Dodgers stole 198 bases in 1962. All but 94 were credited to speedy Maury Wills.

Mickey Wright Wins Fifth Sea Island Tourney

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Marvelous Mickey Wright coupled a hole-in-one with three birdies and won her fifth Sea Island Ladies Open Golf championship in record-breaking fashion.

Miss Wright's closing round 33-40—73 Monday gave her a 54-hole total of 212, a 10-stroke margin over her closest competitor, Ruth Jessen of Bonsall, Calif., who carded a 40-39—79. The tournament record was 219, also held by Miss Wright.

The field of 30 finalists battled 40-degree temperatures and 30 miles-per-hour winds dashed with light sleet. The final round was postponed Sunday because of heavy rains.

The 27-year-old Miss Wright, now playing out of Dallas, Tex., was 2-under-par on the first nine after an ace on the fifth hole. The ball soared over a lake and dropped into the cup 130 yards away.

New College Rule Widens Strike Zone

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — College baseball will turn to the widened strike zone for the 1963 playing season, Collegiate Baseball Newspaper reported Monday.

In following the leads of the pros, the new college rule changes the strike zone to between the top of the batter's shoulders and his knees when he assumes his natural position.

J. Kyle Anderson of the University of Chicago, chairman of the NCAA rules committee, told the newspaper that the change had been made after he took a hurried mail vote of his members and leaders of the American Association of College Baseball coaches.

East Junior Faculty Bows In Overtime

Patterson OK, Tentative Title Date Is April 4

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson's attorney denied rumors that the ex-champ had suffered a back injury in training and indicated Monday that April 4 is the most likely date for the rematch with heavyweight champ Sonny Liston.

"I talked to Floyd on the telephone," said Julius November, Patterson's attorney. "He told me to forget the rumors which he called 'a lot of nonsense.' He told me he ran four rounds at his camp at Highland Mills, N.Y."

November said the contracts already have been signed calling for the rematch to be held at Miami Beach between April 4 and April 11. He indicated the earlier date was the most probable.

Hawks' Mikita Only 3 Points From Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — Scrappy Stan Mikita of the Chicago Black Hawks, one of the most exciting players in the National Hockey League, is closing in on the scoring leaders in the NHL.

Mikita picked up eight points on five goals and three assists last week to jump from seventh place to a tie for third, only three points behind first place Johnny Bucyk of the Boston Bruins.

League statistics, released today, show Bucyk on top with 55 points on 22 goals and 33 assists. Big rank Mahovlich of the Toronto Maple Leafs is second with 54 on 27 goals and 27 assists.

Mikita has 22 goals and 30 assists for 52 points.

Middies Retain 'AA' Lead; Two 'A' Teams Deadlocked

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tournament time is creeping up on Ohio's 471 Class AA and 445 Class A high school basketball teams, and the boys are having a merry time tuning up for the big test.

Coach Karl E. Schumacher's Cambridge St. Benedict team did plenty of eye-sharpening last week when it rolled to a 126-20 win over Deavertown — one of the greatest margins, 106 points—in Buckeye history.

Meanwhile, the hot-shot quintets continued their race in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Middletown's seven-time champions continued to rule the Class AA ratings, just as they have all season, but there were challengers aplenty.

Heading the pursuers were Cleveland East Tech, Dayton Chaminade and Columbus East.

For the first time in the poll's history, Class A wound up in a first - place deadlock between Bloomville, the all-season leader, and fast-closing Columbus University. They tied at 165 poll points with York of Sandusky County only 30 points away.

From here and there:

Mansfield (8-4) ended Marion Harding's 12-game winning streak 55-50, the Tygers leading by 15 at one time. Norwalk was victimized for the first time in 12 starts by Tiffin Columbian, 66-62 in an overtime.

Dayton Belmont also fell from the unbeaten list as Dayton Chaminade triumphed 57-47.

Bob Hoyt, 14-year-old Butler freshman who stands 6 - foot - 4, scored 23 of his team's 34 points against North Robinson Colonel Crawford but lost 63-34. Earlier in the week he counted 31. Colonel Crawford, fourth-ranked, is the Johnny Appleseed Conference champ.

VanLue, which hasn't lost a conference game since 1960, has won its fourth straight Hancock County title. And Paint Valley, newcomer to the ratings, clinched its fifth straight Ross County crown last week.

Champion defeated Youngstown Liberty 55-44 for the first time in seven years. Warren Harding's Jim Gardner has 1,101 points for three years and 364 for the current one—just short of famed Larry Imburgia's school mark of 372.

East Liverpool's tallest boy, 6-2 Dean Cline, hit 30 for the third time this year against Wellsville. He's averaging 22. Marietta's All-Ohio Bill Warden, who had missed five games with a twisted knee, injured it again Saturday against Cambridge. The unbeaten Marietta team has a 72-47 scoring edge over 14 victims.

Teays Valley, five down with a half-minute to go, tied Greenview and then scored a lone basket in the last two seconds of the overtime to take it all. Logan Elm's 6-5 Danny Hicks, suffering an injured back, was given a checkup and a go ahead by Ohio State trainer Ernie Biggs.

Lorain St. Mary, a Class A school, has dropped a pair—both to Class AA quintets. The team, with a seven-game winning streak, is sparked by 6-4 senior Bruce Minnich, who has pulled down 234 rebounds in 11 games and scored 204 points.

Massillon defeated Alliance 58-48 last week to take the lead in the Big Eight League. Canton McKinley's Bill Morgan, a 6-7 jump shot artist, was ailing for a couple of weeks and the Bulldogs dropped a pair—but they're beginning to roll. Two of the starters are 6-7, one 6-3, one 6-1 and the other 5-11. No one has topped 60 against them.

Commissioner Sounds Off

More Interest Than Ever In Baseball, Frick Says

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In the wake of professional football's most prosperous season when once again this sports-conscious nation of ours is asking whether baseball has been permitting its winter counterpart to take over as America's national game, comes a voice that proclaims Abner Doubleday's invention to be in its healthiest state.

The voice is an important one since it belongs to baseball's chief executive, Commissioner Ford Frick.

"Baseball has never been more popular than it is today," said the man who has guided its destiny for the last dozen years. "More people are watching it, both in person and on television, and more youngsters are playing it than ever before."

According to Frick, baseball, since it shed its cloak of timidity 10 years ago and took the big plunge into the fresh waters of expansion, has made great strides moving into an era of prosperity, confidence and popular support the likes of which have never been dreamed.

When Frick became the big boss of baseball, in September of 1951, the game was fraught with dangers and loaded with problems. Declining attendances, shifting populations, minor league unrest, threat of television, strained player-owner relations and congressional probes into the very structure of organized baseball contributed to his problems.

"Our complexities were unlike those the game ever had been confronted with before," said Frick.

"Ten years ago we had 16 clubs in the major leagues with two or three in dire circumstances. Today we have 20 healthy clubs with a system set up for 24 clubs.

"Is baseball losing interest? On the contrary, there is more interest than ever in baseball. Look at the paid attendance figures. The majors drew more than 20 million people last year, more than twice as many as they did 10 years ago.

"There is no telling how many millions watched the games on television. More important to me the fact that there were six million youngsters at ages 10 to 20 playing regularly under supervision."

Now to the burning question whether football is usurping baseball's heretofore unquestioned role as the mother sport in the country.

"I'm not going to become involved in a controversy with football,' said Frick. "We in baseball are very happy about our game and we're not worrying about football. Both are major sports. Each has its place and season.

"It might be wise, though, to bear this one thought in mind. Is it possible for a sport with a season that comprises only 14 games to compete with another whose season extends through six months with games played every single day throughout those six months?"

Four Rookies Signed By Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three pitchers and a catcher—all rookies—have returned their signed contracts to the Cleveland Indians. They will report to the Tribe's spring training camp in Tucson Feb. 21.

They are pitchers Manuel Gazmuri, Casey Cox and Macon Lowe and catcher Milt Swift. They brought to 18 the number of players now under contract for 1963, with 25 still to be signed.

Albie Pearson of the Angels led the American League in runs scored in 1962 with 115.

Top 6 Clubs Hold Spots In Cage Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Headed by Cincinnati, No. 1 for the 10th straight week, the top six teams held their positions today in The Associated Press college basketball poll.

Behind the unbeaten Bearcats came Loyola of Chicago, Duke, Illinois, Arizona State and Georgia Tech, all of them unshaken after a week of solid success.

The last four teams in the order are Colorado, Mississippi State, Wichita and Stanford—the same as a week ago but in scrambled positions. The poll was based on games through Saturday Feb. 2.

Stanford, loser to Washington 49-47, fell from seventh to 10th and was replaced by Colorado, which climbed a notch after beating Oklahoma 77-68. Mississippi State rose a single rung to No. 8 on victories over Southern Mississippi and Louisiana State. Wichita moved up from tenth on a 66-38 decision over Tulsa.

Cincinnati, which won over Drake 65-60 in overtime and St. Louis 70-40 to extend its season's winning string to 17 games and its over-all streak to 35, drew 42 of the 44 first place votes from the AP's special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

With 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Bearcats ran up 438 points for a substantial margin over Loyola, winner of 20 straight games.

Loyola, which crushed Washington of St. Louis 118-58 and Iowa 86-68, got one of the two stray first place nominations. The other went to third-place Duke, winner over South Carolina 88-70 and North Carolina 77-69.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (42)	438
2.	Loyola of Chicago (1)	378
3.	Duke (1)	303
4.	Illinois	291
5.	Arizona State	204
6.	Georgia Tech	203
7.	Colorado	125
8.	Mississippi State	98
9.	Wichita	66
10.	Stanford	46

Russell Set To Take Lead In Rebounds

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Bill Russell didn't make it last week, but it's just a question of time until the defensive star of the champion Boston Celtics replaces the veteran Dolph Schayes of Syracuse as the all-time rebound leader in the National Basketball Association.

And with the Celtics scheduled to play five games this week, against Cincinnati, Syracuse, San Francisco and New York twice, Russell may turn the trick by next Sunday.

Official league statistics, released today, show Russell with a career total of 10,933 rebounds compared to 10,981 for Schayes, a 15-year veteran in the pro circuit.

Russell, now in his seventh NBA season, is second to Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-1 San Francisco star, in rebounds for the year to date however. Chamberlain has 1,334 and Russell 1,277.

Warriors Shade Zephyrs, Within One Of 3rd Spot

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco Warriors, struggling all season to try to gain the National Basketball Association playoffs, are back within one-half game of third place in the Western Division, thanks to their seldom-used magic victory formula.

The Warriors moved south about 50 miles to San Jose Monday night and edged the Chicago Zephyrs 109-107. In their only previous "home" road game, the Warriors whipped Detroit at Bakersfield, Calif.

It's the only consistent manner in which the Warriors have won this season. Two more such games are scheduled.

The Los Angeles Dodgers stole 198 bases in 1962. All but 94 were credited to speedy Maury Wills.

Mickey Wright Wins Fifth Sea Island Tourney

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Marvelous Mickey Wright coupled a hole-in-one with three birdies and won her fifth Sea Island Ladies Open Golf championship in record-breaking fashion.

Miss Wright's closing round 33-40—73 Monday gave her a 54-hole total of 212, a 10-stroke margin over her closest competitor, Ruth Jessen of Bonsall, Calif., who carded a 40-39—79. The tournament record was 219, also held by Miss Wright.

The field of 30 finalists battled 40-degree temperatures and 30 miles-per-hour winds dashed with light sleet. The final round was postponed Sunday because of heavy rains.

The 27-year-old Miss Wright, now playing out of Dallas, Tex., was 2-under-par on the first nine after an ace on the fifth hole. The ball soared over a lake and dropped into the cup 130 yards away.

New College Rule Widens Strike Zone

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — College baseball will turn to the widened strike zone for the 1963 playing season, Collegiate Baseball Newspaper reported Monday.

In following the leads of the pros, the new college rule changes the strike zone to between the top of the batter's shoulders and his knees when he assumes his natural position.

J. Kyle Anderson of the University of Chicago, chairman of the NCAA rules committee, told the newspaper that the change had been made after he took a hurried mail vote of his members and leaders of the American Association of College Baseball coaches.

East Junior Faculty Bows In Overtime

Patterson OK, Tentative Title Date Is April 4

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson's attorney denied rumors that the ex-champ had suffered a back injury in training and indicated Monday that April 4 is the most likely date for the rematch with heavyweight champ Sonny Liston.

"I talked to Floyd on the telephone," said Julius November, Patterson's attorney. "He told me to forget the rumors which he called 'a lot of nonsense.' He told me he ran four rounds at his camp at Highland Mills, N.Y."

November said the contracts already have been signed calling for the rematch to be held at Miami Beach between April 4 and April 11. He indicated the earlier date was the most probable.

Hawks' Mikita Only 3 Points From Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — Scrappy Stan Mikita of the Chicago Black Hawks, one of the most exciting players in the National Hockey League, is closing in on the scoring leaders in the NHL.

Mikita picked up eight points on five goals and three assists last week to jump from seventh place to a tie for third, only three points behind first place Johnny Bucyk of the Boston Bruins.

League statistics, released today, show Bucyk on top with 55 points on 22 goals and 33 assists. Big rank Mahovlich of the Toronto Maple Leafs is second with 54 on 27 goals and 27 assists.

Mikita has 22 goals and 30 assists for 52 points.

Lloyd Nolan Remembers The Early Days

If you think that what this country needs is a melodrama with a title like "Two Faces of Treason" and a plot that involves an espionage ring, mistaken identity and a mysteriously indecipherable message, then you should tune in "Show of the Week" next Sunday night at 9:30. In it, a patriotic fall guy asks why he's being thrown to the Communist wolf pack ("What am I going to find out about?") and James Feverel, the civilian head of a counterintelligence unit, tells him, "We never know about these things, but we always go on the assumption that it may be World War III."

Alan Gill

TO EACH his own. My own view is that what this country needs is more television roles for a very good actor named Lloyd Nolan. Happily, he plays Feverel in "Two Faces of Treason," amid the respectable company of Larry Blyden (the patsy), James Daly and Martha Scott.

He's a shy and private man and his eyes have a tormented expression in them, like the eyes in patent medicine commercials. He seemed most at ease while talking about the good (and bad) old days.

-:-

"THE WAY I talk," he said, "many people take me for a New Yorker. But I'm a San Franciscan. There's a certain San Francisco accent that's very close to New Yorkese; I can always spot it.

"I came to New York in 1928 and was here for six years. They were a lot of fun. But they were bitter along with the sweet, too. I mean the depression.

"I met my wife when we were both in 'Sweet Stranger.' She was playing an office girl, and I was an office boy.

"I danced. Sure. It was in 'Cape Cod Follies.' And I sang in the musical, 'The Third Americana.' I was 'Nails' Malarkey, public enemies 1 to 10, inclusive, and I sang 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?'

"They were the days William Randolph Hearst had breadlines on Times Square, and there were breadlines all over the place. Well, Malarkey's racket was renting out breadlines.

"In 1933, I got the lead in 'One Sunday Afternoon' and was with it a year. I did two more plays, one with the Theater Guild, but the first ran two days and the second ran two weeks, and I said, 'The heck with this.'

"So I went to Paramount, and my first picture had me playing a gangster with George Raft and Ben Bernie. 'Stolen Harmony,' it was called.

"I guess I've played 100 pictures since then, half-hero, half-villain. 'Texas Rangers,' with Oakie and MacMurray and Jean Parker; I guess that was the biggest of them. I was with Lynn Bari at Twentieth in three or four pictures, and I guess that was the closest I ever came to having a 'partner.'

"I sang in two movies, 'One Way Ticket' and 'The Last Heart.' In February I'll do a movie in England with Mickey Spillane and, yeah, sure, I'll be an FBI man.

"THE BEST BREAK, I suppose, was playing Queeg in 'The Caine Mutiny Court Martial' on the stage. I did it for two years, then five months in England.

"They don't sympathize with mutinies much over there, and a lot of the anti-Semitism stuff had to come out of the play because it just doesn't exist in the English.

"I toured the U.S. for six months with 'Caine' by bus. We had no women in the cast, so it all went smoothly.

"But nah, the part didn't bother me or take all the stuff out of me. I was on 32 minutes in all, and I don't 'live' my parts. Two days after the show was over, I forgot every line.

-:-

"NO MORE PLAYS for me, thanks. A movie once in awhile, a TV guest spot — that's the life. I've been married 30 years and I've got a nice place out there in Bel Air, and——"

A stranger stopped at the table and apologized for breaking in, but he wanted Nolan to know how much pleasure he'd got from Nolan's many movies over the years.

The actor fumblingly thanked the man. And a moment later, he was asked whether he minded such interruptions.

"Mind?" he said. "No, no, I'm shy with people and it's good for me."

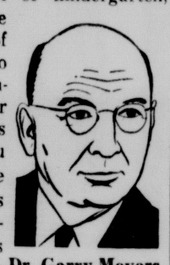
Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Agressive Child Should Be Curbed

When you observe tots from three to six in a group on the playground, in your home or at nursery school or kindergarten, you may see one or more of them trying to boss and manage the other children. If it's your child you may suppose he reveals strong leadership. Does this child by resourcefulness and persuasiveness win the other children to accept his suggestions or wishes, or does he boss them by sheer force and aggressiveness? If by the latter means, he might become a Hitler or Mussolini by and by, but hardly a great leader in a democracy. He may not even become a Hitler - type leader. Other children may soon turn against him because of his tyranny.



Dr. Garry Meyers

A GOOD WAY to assess the degree of leadership talent in your young child is to observe how many new ways to play he invents, how skillful he is at these ways and how readily other young children choose on their own accord to follow his ways—how well, in short, the other children like him as a person and for what he creates that they can share.

Even if you suppose your tot reveals leadership ability, you would wish to estimate the cost to other children and to his parents and whole family of his behavior while he seems to be expressing leadership.

Writes an Ohio mother:

"My son, 3½, fights constantly with certain neighbors while he seems to get along well with other children. He has been in day nurseries as well as a University nursery and they say that he gets along fine and is a leader type. He also gets along well in Sunday School.

"He also tries to assert himself in every way possible in our home and often picks on (hits or bites or teases) the older girls (his sisters eight and ten or the Brownies when they are meeting in our home).

"I UNDERSTAND three-year-olds do assert themselves, but I must take out so much time with him that it is hard to get my normal housework done during the day."

My reply in part:

Apparently this child, while with other groups of children of his age when under supervision, has his aggressiveness curbed. However, even the leader of his nursery school may allow him to be unduly aggressive at the expense of the other children.

Certainly he's a little tyrant at home, causing undue annoyance to older children there and demanding an unreasonable amount of attention by you, his mother. You need to find ways to control him better, laying the foundation for his better self - control and self - amusement. Manifestly, he has not learned to respect no as final.

Suggest to the older sisters that when he hits or bites them without due provocation, they slap him soundly in a safe place.

IF THEY DISLIKE doing so, you, on seeing him hitting or biting any person not in self-defense, should quickly turn him over your knee and smack him soundly. Be sure it hurts.

Or, by slower measures, you might, instead, require him for each such offense to sit unamused, doing nothing, where you can see him for exactly 25 minutes.

Perhaps the older children could be prevailed on to read often to him and occasionally to help him at creative fun. Furthermore, you might attract a few children of his age to your home when you could study and guide him in his behavior toward them.

My bulletins, "Your Child and His Playmates", "How to Teach Your Child the Meaning of No" and "The Bossy Child", may be secured by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

Lloyd Nolan Remembers The Early Days

If you think that what this country needs is a melodrama with a title like "Two Faces of Treason" and a plot that involves an espionage ring, mistaken identity and a mysteriously indecipherable message, then you should tune in "Show of the Week" next Sunday night at 9:30. In it, a patriotic fall guy asks why he's being thrown to the Communist wolf pack ("What am I going to find out about?") and James Feverel, the civilian head of a counterintelligence unit, tells him, "We never know about these things, but we always go on the assumption that it may be World War III."

Alan Gill

TO EACH his own. My own view is that what this country needs is more television roles for a very good actor named Lloyd Nolan. Happily, he plays Feverel in "Two Faces of Treason," amid the respectable company of Larry Blyden (the patsy), James Daly and Martha Scott.

It's nice to hear Nolan's authoritatively nasal tones once again as this preeminent cop among cops confronts the forces of darkness.

He's a shy and private man and his eyes have a tormented expression in them, like the eyes in patent medicine commercials. He seemed most at ease while talking about the good (and bad) old days.

-:-

"THE WAY I talk," he said, "many people take me for a New Yorker. But I'm a San Franciscan. There's a certain San Francisco accent that's very close to New Yorkese; I can always spot it.

"I came to New York in 1928 and was here for six years. They were a lot of fun. But they were bitter along with the sweet, too. I mean the depression.

"I met my wife when we were both in 'Sweet Stranger.' She was playing an office girl, and I was an office boy.

"I danced. Sure. It was in 'Cape Cod Follies.' And I sang in the musical, 'The Third Americana.' I was 'Nails' Malarkey, public enemies 1 to 10, inclusive, and I sang 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?'

"They were the days William Randolph Hearst had breadlines on Times Square, and there were breadlines all over the place. Well, Malarkey's racket was renting out breadlines.

"In 1933, I got the lead in 'One Sunday Afternoon' and was with it a year. I did two more plays, one with the Theater Guild, but the first ran two days and the second ran two weeks, and I said, 'The heck with this.'

"So I went to Paramount, and my first picture had me playing a gangster with George Raft and Ben Bernie. 'Stolen Harmony,' it was called.

"I guess I've played 100 pictures since then, half-hero, half-villain. 'Texas Rangers,' with Oakie and MacMurray and Jean Parker; I guess that was the biggest of them. I was with Lynn Bari at Twentieth in three or four pictures, and I guess that was the closest I ever came to having a 'partner.'

"I sang in two movies, 'One Way Ticket' and 'The Last Heart.' In February I'll do a movie in England with Mickey Spillane and, yeah, sure, I'll be an FBI man.

"THE BEST BREAK, I suppose, was playing Queeg in 'The Caine Mutiny Court Martial' on the stage. I did it for two years, then five months in England.

"They don't sympathize with mutinies much over there, and a lot of the anti-Semitism stuff had to come out of the play because it just doesn't exist in the English.

"I toured the U.S. for six months with 'Caine' by bus. We had no women in the cast, so it all went smoothly.

"But nah, the part didn't bother me or take all the stuff out of me. I was on 32 minutes in all, and I don't 'live' my parts. Two days after the show was over, I forgot every line.

-:-

"NO MORE PLAYS for me, thanks. A movie once in awhile, a TV guest spot — that's the life. I've been married 30 years and I've got a nice place out there in Bel Air, and——"

A stranger stopped at the table and apologized for breaking in, but he wanted Nolan to know how much pleasure he'd got from Nolan's many movies over the years.

The actor fumblingly thanked the man. And a moment later, he was asked whether he minded such interruptions.

"Mind?" he said. "No, no, I'm shy with people and it's good for me."

Harbor Chief Named By Cleveland Mayor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Col. Earle B. Butler has been appointed city harbor commissioner by Mayor Ralph S. Locher, effective April 1.

Butler now is with the U.S. Army Engineers in Columbus but will retire from the Army on March 31. He headed the Buffalo Army Engineer's office from 1959-1961, which includes Cleveland as part of its jurisdiction.

The harbor commissioner's post has been vacant for a year since the resignation of Henry Holdren.

Crackdown On Sunday Closing Hits Snag

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Agressive Child Should Be Curbed

When you observe tots from three to six in a group on the playground, in your home or at nursery school or kindergarten, you may see one or more of them trying to boss and manage the other children. If it's your child you may suppose he reveals strong leadership. Does this child by resourcefulness and persuasiveness win the other children to accept his suggestions or wishes, or does he boss them by sheer force and aggressiveness? If by the latter means, he might become a Hitler or Mussolini by and by, but hardly a great leader in a democracy. He may not even become a Hitler - type leader. Other children may soon turn against him because of his tyranny.

A GOOD WAY to assess the degree of leadership talent in your young child is to observe how many new ways to play he invents, how skillful he is at these ways and how readily other young children choose on their own accord to follow his ways—how well, in short, the other children like him as a person and for what he creates that they can share.

Even if you suppose your tot reveals leadership ability, you would wish to estimate the cost to other children and to his parents and whole family of his behavior while he seems to be expressing leadership.

Writes an Ohio mother:

"My son, 3½, fights constantly with certain neighbors while he seems to get along well with other children. He has been in day nurseries as well as a University nursery and they say that he gets along fine and is a leader type. He also gets along well in Sunday School.

"He also tries to assert himself in every way possible in our home and often picks on (hits or bites or teases) the older girls (his sisters eight and ten or the Brownies when they are meeting in our home).

"I UNDERSTAND three-year-olds do assert themselves, but I must take out so much time with him that it is hard to get my normal housework done during the day."

My reply in part:

Apparently this child, while with other groups of children of his age when under supervision, has his aggressiveness curbed. However, even the leader of his nursery school may allow him to be unduly aggressive at the expense of the other children.

Certainly he's a little tyrant at home, causing undue annoyance to older children there and demanding an unreasonable amount of attention by you, his mother. You need to find ways to control him better, laying the foundation for his better self - control and self - amusement. Manifestly, he has not learned to respect no as final.

Suggest to the older sisters that when he hits or bites them without due provocation, they slap him soundly in a safe place.

IF THEY DISLIKE doing so, you, on seeing him hitting or biting any person not in self-defense, should quickly turn him over your knee and smack him soundly. Be sure it hurts.

Or, by slower measures, you might, instead, require him for each such offense to sit unamused, doing nothing, where you can see him for exactly 25 minutes.

Perhaps the older children could be prevailed on to read often to him and occasionally to help him at creative fun. Furthermore, you might attract a few children of his age to your home when you could study and guide him in his behavior toward them.

My bulletins, "Your Child and His Playmates", "How to Teach Your Child the Meaning of No" and "The Bossy Child", may be secured by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

"Want anything at the bank, Dear?"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove oil stains from brick?

A. Dissolve one pound of trisodium phosphate in one gallon of water, then mix with whiting to form a paste. Spread a ½-inch layer of this paste over the oil stain, let it dry throughly, then scrape off and wash with clear water.

Q. How can I prevent screws from working loose in plastered walls?

A. Make a tiny opening in the plaster where you wish to drive your screw, then fill this with some plastic wood. Drive your screw in while the wood is still soft.

Q. How should brushes that have been used for applying shellac be cleaned?

A. They should be washed in denatured alcohol, and then in hot soapsuds.

Q. Do you have any suggestions for inking long, curved lines with a ruling pen when one does not have the proper utensils?

A. Try using an ordinary wire coat hanger. Without tools, you can bend the hanger to the desired curve, and when in use, the roundness of the wire keeps ink from creeping under the hanger and causing a blot.

Q. What can I do, after having removed a stain from a fabric cleaning fluid has left a ring?

A. Try this: Let the cleaning fluid dry thoroughly, then hold the material over a steaming teakettle until the mark disappears.

Q. What can I do about some grease spots which have been allowed to become well set in some fabrics?

A. Try combatting these with more of the same! Rub some fresh grease into the spots, then wash immediately.

Junior Editors Quiz on SOCRATES

QUESTION: What did Socrates do that made him so famous?

ANSWER: Historians regard the ancient Greeks as the founders of our Western civilization, because so many of our ideas and ways of thinking have come from them. There were three great philosophers whose thinking has especially influenced us. Socrates, born about 469 B. C., is the first of these. He saw that people around him had opinions about things but had not turned these opinions into knowledge. Because Socrates sought this knowledge, taking an idea and testing it out to see if there was truth in it, we venerate him today for starting people in trying to understand the world around them. Socrates believed in God and that man had a soul, and he thought men should search for knowledge that is good for their souls. He was unjustly accused of having influenced others wrongly and condemned to drink poisonous hemlock. The great philisopher is famous for the calm and dignified way he instructed his students in his last hours and then quietly drank the poison. Socrates' famous pupil, Plato, founded the first "academy" or university. Plato's pupil, Aristotle, helped lay the foundations of natural science and so Socrates' search for knowledge was carried on.

FOR YOU TO DO: The ancients liked to do portraits in white marble, like the bust of Socrates. Try a portrait bust of one of your friends (or yourself, looking in a mirror). Use a piece of white soap as the material; it cuts beautifully.
